NEW QUESTION: 4A systems administrator has implemented PKI on a classified government network. In the event that a disconnect occurs from the primary CA, which of the following should be accessible locally from every site to ensure users with bad certificates cannot gain access to the network?A. A verification authorityB. A redundant CAC. A CRLD. Make the RA available

Answer: C
Explanation:A certificate revocation list (CRL) is created and distributed to all CAs to revoke a certificate or key.By checking the CRL you can check if a particular certificate has been revoked.
Incorrect Answers:B. Access to a registration authority (RA) is not required to check for bad certificates. A CRL will do fine.A registration authority (RA) offloads some of the work from a CA. An RA system operates as a middleman in the process: It can distribute keys, accept registrations for the CA, and validate identities.C. A verification authority is used to check the uniqueness of a certificate, not primarily to check for bad certificates.The user identity must be unique within each CA domain. The third-party validation authority (VA)/verification authority can provide this information on behalf of the CA. The binding is established through the registration and issuance process.D. A redundant CA is not required to check for bad certificates. A CRL will do fine.
