You need to identify the number of Exchange servers required to meet the following requirements: -Maintain user access to mailboxes if a single server fails. -Use the minimize account of Exchange servers in each site. NEW QUESTION: 2What command configures a port with a voice VLAN using 802.1Q? A. switch(config-if)# switchport voice vlan 10 dot1p B. switch(config-if)# switchport voice vlan 10 802.1q C. switch(config-if)# switchport voice vlan 10 q D. switch(config-if)# switchport voice vlan 10 Answer: D Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: The command that configures a port with a voice VLAN using 802.1Q is switchport voice vlan 10. This configuration uses 802.1Q as a default. 802.1P is configured with the command switchport voice vlan 10 dot1p . These are the only two valid commands to configure voice VLANs on a switch port. The following is an example of voice VLAN configuration and QoS: switch(config)# mls qos switch(config)# interface fastethernet 0/10 switch(config-if)# switchport voice vlan 100 switch(config-if)# switchport access vlan 1 switch(config-if)# switchport priority extend trust switch(config-if)# mls qos trust cos switch(config-if)# mls qos trust device cisco-phone In this example, the mls qos command enables QoS on the switch. The interface command moves the administrator into interface configuration mode. The switchport voice vlan 100 command configures the voice VLAN to be 100 using 802.1Q. If you wanted 802.1P, the command would have been switchport voice vlan 100 dot1p . The VLAN for data traffic is defined with the fourth command, switchport access vlan 1 . The switchport priority extend trust command instructs the port to trust the CoS of the data traffic being passed from a PC connected to the IP phone. The mls qos trust cos command tells the port to use the CoS value of traffic passed to it from the phone or PC to classify traffic. (It is included here for illustration purposes only, as this command is not necessary when using the switchport priority extend trust command since the CoS value of the PC will be trusted anyway.) The mls qos trust device cisco-phone command tells the port to trust the QoS information provided from the IP phone if it is a Cisco phone. The other options are incorrect due to invalid syntax. Objective: Layer 2 Technologies Sub-Objective: Configure and verify VLANs References: Cisco > Catalyst 3750-E and 3560-E Switch Software Configuration Guide, 12.2(46)SE > Configuring Voice VLANs Cisco > Cisco IOS Interface and Hardware Component Command Reference > squalch through system jumbomtu > switchport voice vlan Cisco > Cisco IOS Quality of Service Solutions Command Reference > mls qos (global configuration mode) through mpls experimental > mls qos (interface configuration mode)
