NEW QUESTION: 1A company has several departments that conduct technical studies and prepare reports for clients. Recently, there have been long delays in having these reports copied at the company's centralized copy center because of the dramatic increase in business. Management is considering decentralizing copy services to reduce the turnaround and provide clients with timely reports. An appropriate technique for minimizing turnaround time and the cost of providing copy services is:A. Game theory.B. Linear programming.C. Regression analysis.D. Queuing theory.Answer: DExplanation:Two basic costs are involved in queuing (waiting-line) models: 1) the cost of providing service (including facility costs and operating costs), and 2) the cost of idle resources waiting in line. The latter may be a direct cost if paid employees are waiting, or an opportunity cost in the case of waiting customers. The objective of queuing theory is to minimize the total cost of the system, including both service and waiting costs, for a given rate of arrivals. This minimization occurs at the point at which cost of waiting is balanced by the cost of providing service. This company wishes to reduce the total of waiting costs (turnaround time) and the cost of copy services.

NEW QUESTION: 2The planning entities "Plan", "Program", and "Project" are the pre-defined types present in IBM Marketing Operations by default. Custom types can be added to Marketing Operations with "Marketing Objects," where a new type can be created, templates can be added for the type, and instances can be created from the type.What are the main database tables for the storage of these pre-defined planning object instances and Marketing Object Instances?A. The main table for storage of all the planning objects including Marketing Objects is the table "uap_planning_objects", and the columns "comp_type_name", "template_name", and "objectid", identify one instance uniquely. There are other supplementary tables for normalization.B. The storage of these different types is very complex, compounded with the fact that Marketing Object types keep increasing with definition of new types. Because of this, all the predefined planning entities "Plan", "Program", and "Project" and all the marketing objects are stored in the single table "uap_planningobjects", with "objectid", as the primary key, and the column "object_details_blob" of type "BLOB" that holds the serialized binary stream of the Java object. This way, no other supplementary tables are required, reducing complexity, and increasing performance of the system. Note: the column type for "BLOB" (Binary Large Object) type is different in different databases.C. The built-in types (Plan, Program and Project) are stored in their own table, "uap_plans", "uap_programs", and "uap_projects" respectively. Each type has specific columns "planid", "programid", "projectid" for the ID of the object. The column "template_name" is present in tables "uap_programs", "uap_projects" for Programs and Projects, but not in "uap_plans", as there are no templates for the type "Plan". For all marketing objects, there is a single table "uap_mktgobject" The columns "comp_type_name", "template_name", and "mktg_object_id", identify instances uniquely. There are other supplementary tables for normalization. D. Every "type" is stored in its own table, "uap_plans", "uap_programs", "uap_projects", and for marketing objects, the tables are named with "uap_" as the prefix, and the name of the type as the suffix (for example, if the name of the type is "myMarketingObject", then the table name is "uap_myMarketingObject". The columns "comp_type_name", "template_name", and "object_id" identify one instance uniquely. There are other supplementary tables for normalization. Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3 A DevOps engineer has built a container to host a web-server and it must run as an executable. Which command must be configured in a Dockerfile to accomplish this goal? A. ENTRYPOINT {usr/sbin/apache2ctl} B. ENTRYPOINT ["/usr/sbin/apache2ctl", "-D", "FOREGROUND"] C. ENTRYPOINT ["BACKGROUND", "-D", "/usr/sbin/apache2ctl"] D. ENTRYPOINT <usr/sbin/apache2ctl> Answer: B
