NEW QUESTION: 1 Which two statements about ASA transparent mode are true? (Choose two.)
A. It cannot pass multicast traffic. B. It supports ARP inspection. C. It does not support NAT. D. It requires the inside and outside interface to be in different subnets. E. It drops ARP traffic unless it is permitted. F. It can pass IPv6 traffic. Answer: B, C
Explanation: Even though the transparent mode acts as a bridge, Layer 3 traffic, such as IP traffic, cannot pass through the security appliance unless you explicitly permit it with an extended access list. The only traffic allowed through the transparent firewall without an access list is ARP traffic. ARP traffic can be controlled by ARP inspection. These features are not supported in transparent mode: NAT / PAT NAT is performed on the upstream router. Dynamic routing protocols (such as RIP, EIGRP, OSPF) You can add static routes for traffic that originates on the security appliance. You can also allow dynamic routing protocols through the security appliance with an extended access list. Note: IS-IS is IP protocol 124 (is-is over ipv4). IS-IS transient packets can be allowed through the transparent mode by the form of an ACL that permits protocol 124. The transparent mode supports all 255 IP protocols. IPv6 DHCP relay The transparent firewall can act as a DHCP server, but it does not support the DHCP relay commands. DHCP relay is not required because you can allow DHCP traffic to pass through with an extended access list. Quality of Service (QoS) Multicast You can allow multicast traffic through the security appliance if you allow it in an extended access list. In a transparent firewall, access-lists are required to pass the multicast traffic from higher to lower, as well as from lower to higher security zones. In normal firewalls, higher to lower security zones are not required. VPN termination for through traffic The transparent firewall supports site-to-site VPN tunnels for management connections only. It does not terminate VPN connections for traffic through the security appliance. You can pass VPN traffic through the security appliance with an extended access list, but it does not terminate non-management connections. Reference:

NEW QUESTION: 2A. DVD-DLB. BD-EC. DVD-RD. CD-RWAnswer: B

NEW QUESTION: 3What is the function of NSF?A. provide nonstop forwarding in the event of failure of one of the member supervisorsB. forward traffic based on Cisco Express ForwardingC. forward traffic simultaneously using both supervisorsD. provide automatic failover to back up supervisor in VSS modeAnswer: A*Explanation:VSS is network system virtualization technology that pools multiple Cisco Catalyst 6500 Series Switches into one virtual switch, increasing operational efficiency, boosting nonstop communications, and scaling system bandwidth capacity to 1.4 Tbps. Switches would operate as a single logical virtual switch called a virtual switching system 1440 (VSS1440). VSS formed by two Cisco Catalyst 6500 Series Switches with the Virtual Switching Supervisor 720-10GE. In a VSS, the data plane and switch fabric with capacity of 720 Gbps of supervisor engine in each chassis are active at the same time on both chassis, combining for an active 1400-Gbps switching capacity per VSS. Only one of the virtual switch members has the active control plane.Both chassis are kept in sync with the inter-chassis Stateful Switchover (SSO) mechanism along with Nonstop Forwarding (NSF) to provide nonstop communication even in the event of failure of one of the member supervisor engines or chassis.
