NEW QUESTION: 1You need to create a query that identifies the trending topics.How should you complete the query? To answer, drag the appropriate values to the correct targets. Each value may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer: Explanation:ExplanationFrom scenario: Topics are considered to be trending if they generate many mentions in a specific country during a 15-minute time frame.Box 1: TimeStamp Azure Stream Analytics (ASA) is a cloud service that enables real-time processing over streams of data flowing in from devices, sensors, websites and other live systems. The stream-processing logic in ASA is expressed in a SQL-like query language with some added extensions such as windowing for performing temporal calculations.ASA is a temporal system, so every event that flows through it has a timestamp. A timestamp is assigned automatically based on the event's arrival time to the input source but you can also access a timestamp in your event payload explicitly using `TIMESTAMP BY`:`SELECT * FROM SensorReadings TIMESTAMP BY time`Box 2: `GROUP BY`Example: Generate an output event if the temperature is above 75 for a total of 5 seconds `SELECT sensorId, MIN(temp) as temp FROM SensorReadings TIMESTAMP BY time GROUP BY sensorId, SlidingWindow(second, 5) HAVING MIN(temp) > 75` Box 3: SlidingWindow Windowing is a core requirement for stream processing applications to perform set-based operations like counts or aggregations over events that arrive within a specified period of time. ASA supports three types of windows: Tumbling, Hopping, and Sliding.With a Sliding Window, the system is asked to logically consider all possible windows of a given length and output events for cases when the content of the window actually changes - that is, when an event entered or existed the window.
