NEW QUESTION: 1 You have deployed a multi-tier application with multiple compute instances in Oracle Cloud Infrastructure. You want to back up these volumes and have decided to use Volume Group's feature. The Block volume and Compute instances exist in different compartments within your tenancy. Periodically, a few child compartments are moved under different parent compartments, and you notice that sometimes volume group backup fails. What could be the cause?
A. You have the same block volume attached to multiple compute instances; if these compute instances are in different compartments then all concerned compartments must be moved at the same time.
B. You are exceeding your volume group backup quota configured.
C. Compute instance with multiple block volumes attached cannot move when a compartment is moved.
D. The Identity and Access Management policy allowing backup failed to move when the compartment was moved.
Answer: D
Explanation: You can move a compartment to a different parent compartment within the same tenancy. When you move a compartment, all its contents (subcompartments and resources) are moved with it. Moving a compartment has implications for the contents. After you move a compartment to a new parent compartment, the access policies of the new parent take effect and the policies of the previous parent no longer apply. Before you move a compartment, ensure that: You are aware of the policies that govern access to the compartment in its current position. You are aware of the policies in the new parent compartment that will take effect when you move the compartment. In some cases, when moving nested compartments with policies that specify the hierarchy, the policies are automatically updated to ensure consistency.

NEW QUESTION: 2 You need a dashboard that shows your cases only. Which dashboard should you use?
A. Customer Service Performance
B. Sales Performance Dashboard
C. Customer Service Operations
D. Customer Service Representative
Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3 You are a database administrator for an online retail store. You create a table to track orders by running the following Transact-SQL statement: You need to create a report that includes the following information:
* Total sales for each year
* Total sales for each category
* Total sales for each category per year
How should you complete the Transact-SQL statement? To answer, drag the appropriate Transact-SQL segment to the correct locations.

Each Transact-SQL segment may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content. NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point. Answer: Explanation: Explanation Box 1: GROUP BY Box 2: CUBE GROUP BY CUBE creates groups for all possible combinations of columns. For GROUP BY CUBE (a, b) the results has groups for unique values of (a, b), (NULL, b), (a, NULL), and (NULL, NULL). Example: This code runs a GROUP BY CUBE operation on Country and Region. SELECT Country, Region, SUM(Sales) AS TotalSales FROM Sales GROUP BY CUBE (Country, Region); References: <https://docs.microsoft.com/en-us/sql/t-sql/queries/select-group-by-transact-sql>
