The hypervisor is installed on a physical server (host) and a guest OS is installed into the environment. Virtual guests aware that it has been virtualized, unlike the full virtualization (where the guest doesn't know that it has been virtualized) to take advantage of the functions.In full virtualization, guests will issue a hardware calls but in paravirtualization, guests will directly communicate with the host (hypervisor) using drivers.

Explanation:Explanation Based on the network diagram, we know that a virtual link will need to be configured to logically connect area2 to the back area 0. However, this is not the problem as we can see that R3 has been correctly configured to do this. It is, however, missing the network statement for the link to R4. Here, we see that the link to R4 is using the 192.168.34.0 network, but that this network has not been added to OSPF. Based on the network diagram, this link should be added to Area 1, not Area 2.
