NEW QUESTION: 1You are designing a lab exercise for your team that has a large number of graphics with large file sizes. The application becomes unresponsive if the graphics are embedded in the application. You have uploaded the graphics to Oracle Cloud Infrastructure and only added the URL in the application. You need to ensure these graphics are accessible without requiring any authentication for an extended period of time. How can you achieve these requirements?A. Make the object storage bucket public and use the URL found in the Object "Details".B. Create PARs and do not specify an expiration date.C. Make the object storage bucket private and all objects public and use the URL found in the Object "Details".D. Create pre-authenticated requests (PAR) and specify 00:00:0000 as the expiration time.Answer: A
Explanation: Explanation Pre-authenticated requests provide a way to let you access a bucket or an object without having your own credentials. For example, you can create a request that lets you upload backups to a bucket without owning API keys. When you create a bucket, the bucket is considered a private bucket and the access to the bucket and bucket contents requires authentication and authorization. However, Object Storage supports anonymous, unauthenticated access to a bucket. You make a bucket by enabling read access to the bucket. pre-authenticated requests have to select expiration date
