NEW QUESTION: 1 While conducting an audit, an IS auditor detects the presence of a virus. What should be the IS auditor's next step?
A. Clear the virus from the network.
B. Observe the response mechanism.
C. Ensure deletion of the virus.
D. Inform appropriate personnel immediately.
Answer: D
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: The first thing an IS auditor should do after detecting the virus is to alert the organization to its presence, then wait for their response. Choice A should be taken after choice C. This will enable an IS auditor to examine the actual workability and effectiveness of the response system. An IS auditor should not make changes to the system being audited, and ensuring the deletion of the virus is a management responsibility.
