NEW QUESTION: 2A company has an HP MSM solution that consists of an HP MSM Controller and controlled HP MSM APs. The solution includes an access VSC, which enforces HTML-based user login (Web-Auth) using the controller's internal login pages. The network administrator knows that many users who will connect to the VSC clients configured for Web proxy to a server that operates on port 8080.Which steps can the network administrator take to help clients log in and use the network? (Select two)A. Create Mac address public access across attributes for the clients with the proxy settings.B. Enable DNS interception.C. Change the port used for HTTP on the controller's public access interface.D. Enable the HTTP/HTTPS proxy supports feature.E. Enable redirection to the public access interface through HTTP rather than HTTPS.Answer: B,C Explanation:Student Guide Book 2 - Implementing and Troubleshooting HP Wireless Networks - Page 5-31 Enable HTTP/HTTPS proxy support In a BYOD environment, client browsers might be configured to send HTTP and HTTPS requests to a proxy server at a different port from the standard 80 or 443. Atthe default settings, as you saw on the previous slide, the controller only redirectstraffic directed to the standard HTTP or HTTPS ports. Therefore, the controller wouldsimply drop the traffic, and the user could not log in.The guests probably would not understand what the problem is. And many users withproxy settings received those settings from a domain policy and do not know how tochange them. You can help these users by selecting the HTTP/HTTPS proxy setting inthe Controller >> Public access > Access control window.The MSM Controller then attempts to redirect any TCP traffic. Thus when the clientattempts to send HTTP or HTTPS requests on a different port, the browser still receivesthe redirect.The controller does make a few exceptions. It cannot redirect traffic directed to some TCP ports because it uses those ports for other purposes. Therefore, the solution failsif the client uses any of these ports for the proxy server:23 25 110 443 8080 8090If you have control over the client proxy server settings, have the proxy server use adifferent port. Otherwise, simply be aware of the limitation. For the final two ports,you could make the redirect work if you change the ports used by the MSMController's internal login pages, which are, by default, 8080 for HTTP and 8090 forHTTPS. (The setting is in the Controller >> Public access >Web server window.) Inthat case, of course, the new ports that you specify could not be used bythe proxyserver.The controller can continue to support traffic from the client after the user logs in.

NEW QUESTION: 3A customer is interested in designing a solution to ensure that subscribers only receive categories of emails that they want to receive. The built-in subscription center will be used as part of the solution.Which feature should be utilized to make this happen?A. Send LoggingB. Profile CenterC. Publication ListsD. Subscriber KeysAnswer: C
