NEW QUESTION: 1 A customer wants to make a new classification mandatory on all their new projects. Select the three options that could help them accomplish this. A. Define the classification category to allow one code only. B. Define the classification as Required on the appropriate project templates in the QuickEntry screen. C. Define the classification as Mandatory in the Project Type configuration. D. Define the classification as Mandatory in the Classification configuration. E. Define project status controls to disallow project status changes where classification category codes are missing. Answer: D Explanation: Note: *You define project classifications to group your projects according to categories you define. A project classification includes a class category and a class code. The category is a broad subject within which you can classify projects. The code is a specific value of the category. *(see step 3 below) Defining class categories and class codes To define class categories and class codes: 1. Navigate to the Class Categories and Codes window. 2. Enter a unique Class Category name and a Description. 3. Specify whether the class category is mandatory for every project you define. Enable if all projects must have a code assigned to this class category. Do not enable if this class category is optional. If you do not enable this option, you cannot use this class category in your AutoAccounting rules. 4. Specify whether you want to use the class category in your AutoAccounting rules. Suggestion: For each project, you can use only one code with one class category for use with AutoAccounting rules. If an AutoAccounting category already exists within a particular date range, assign an end date to the existing AutoAccounting category and then create a new one. 5. Specify whether you want to allow entry of only one class code with this class category for a project. Note: Defining multiple class codes for one category for a project may affect reporting by class category; defining multiple class codes may cause your numbers to be included more than once. 6. Enter the Name, Description, and Effective Dates for each class code. 7. Save your work. Reference: Project Classifications (Class Categories and Class Codes)

A. Number of user ping-pong switching between specific two-cells
B. User ping-pong switching interval between specific two-cells
C. The number of consecutive ping-pong switching for a specific two-cell user
D. UE level MRO algorithm in the system determines to issue the ping-pong handover the number CIO optimization recommendations
Answer: B,C,D

NEW QUESTION: 4You want to compile a kernel with an experimental change that is distributed in "patch" format. However, you want to make sure that the patch works correctly before changing the original kernel source code. How can you test the patch before actually applying it?
A. patch --unified
B. patch --context
C. patch --dry-run
D. patch -p1
Answer: C
Explanation:The patch -dry-run command is used to test a patch before applying it. This will produce a text output listing all the files that would be patched. If there are no 'Failed' messages, then the patch is safe to install.
Reference: http://www.hmug.org/man/1/patch.html
Incorrect Answers:A:Patch -p1 will apply the patch.B:Patch --context will apply the patch as a 'context diff' file.C:Patch --unified will apply the patch as a 'unified diff' file.
