NEW QUESTION: 1 Which of the following types of attacks involves interception of authentication traffic in an attempt to gainunauthorized access to a wireless network?A. IV attackB. Replay attackC. Evil twinD. Near field communicationAnswer: AExplanation:Section: Threats and VulnerabilitiesExplanation/Reference:Explanation:An initialization vector is a random number used in combination with a secret key as a means to encryptdata. This number is sometimes referred to as a nonce, or "number occurring once," as an encryptionprogram uses it only once per session.An initialization vector is used to avoid repetition during the data encryption process, making it impossiblefor hackers who use dictionary attack to decrypt the exchanged encrypted message by discovering apattern. This is known as an IV attack.A particular binary sequence may be repeated more than once in a message, and the more it appears, themore the encryption method is discoverable. For example, if a one-letter word exists in a message, it maybe either "a" or "I" but it can't be "e" because the word "e" is non-sensical in English, while "a" has ameaning and "I" has a meaning. Repeating the words and letters makes it possible for software to apply adictionary and discover the binary sequence corresponding to each letter.Using an initialization vector changes the binary sequence corresponding to each letter, enabling the letter"a" to be represented by a particular sequence in the first instance, and then represented by a completelydifferent binary sequence in the second instance.WEP (Wireless Equivalent Privacy) is vulnerable to an IV attack. Because RC4 is a stream cipher, thesame traffic key must never be used twice. The purpose of an IV, which is transmitted as plain text, is toprevent any repetition, but a 24-bit IV is not long enough to ensure this on a busy network. The way the IVwas used also opened WEP to a related key attack. For a 24-bit IV, there is a 50% probability the same IVwill repeat after 5000 packets.
