NEW QUESTION: 1 To comply with the matching principle, the cost of labor services of an employee who participates in the manufacturing of a product normally should be charged to the income statement in the period in which the: A. Product is completed. B. Work is performed. C. Product is sold. D. Employee is paid. Answer: C Explanation: Recognition of expenses occurs concurrently with recognition of increases in liabilities or decreases in assets. Expenses are recognized if the costs are directly associated with the earning of particular income items. This process is often called matching is simultaneous or combined recognition of the revenues and that result directly and jointly from the same transactions or other events. This direct relationship is exemplified by the sale of a product. This transaction results in revenue sales revenue) for receipt of cash or a receivable, the recognition of an expense cost of sales) for the sacrifice of the product to a customer, and a decrease in inventory. The direct labor cost of manufacturing the product is absorbed by the finished goods inventory and is not recognized until sale.

NEW QUESTION: 2 Answer: Explanation: Explanation Column1 - Sparse; Column2 - Computed- Sparse columns are ordinary columns that have an optimized storage for null values. Sparse columns reduce the space requirements for null values at the cost of more overhead to retrieve nonnull values. Consider using sparse columns when the space saved is at least 20 percent to 40 percent. - A Persisted column would be faster to retrieve. - A computed column is computed from an expression that can use other columns in the same table. The expression can be a noncomputed column name, constant, function, and any combination of these connected by one or more operators. Unless otherwise specified, computed columns are virtual columns that are not physically stored in the table. Their values are recalculated every time they are referenced in a query. The Database Engine uses the PERSISTED keyword in the CREATE TABLE and ALTER TABLE statements to physically store computed columns in the table. Their values are updated when any columns that are part of their calculation change. References: <http://msdn.microsoft.com/en-us/library/cc280604.aspx> <http://msdn.microsoft.com/en-us/library/ms186241.aspx>
