NEW QUESTION: 1 Welche Art von Test bewertet einen Notfallwiederherstellungsplan (Disaster Recovery, DR) unter Verwendung realistischer Katastrophenszenarien bei minimaler Beeinträchtigung des Geschäftsbetriebs? A. Simulation B. Exemplarische Vorgehensweise C. Tischplatte D. Parallel Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2 During an incident involving the company main database, a team of forensics experts is hired to respond to the breach. The team is in charge of collecting forensics evidence from the company's database server. Which of the following is the correct order in which the forensics team should engage? A. Take inventory, secure the scene, capture RAM, capture hard drive, implement chain of custody, document, and analyze the data. B. Notify senior management, secure the scene, capture volatile storage, capture non-volatile storage, implement chain of custody, and analyze original media. C. Implement chain of custody, take inventory, secure the scene, capture volatile and non-volatile storage, and document the findings. D. Secure the scene, take inventory, capture volatile storage, capture non-volatile storage, document, and implement chain of custody. Answer: D Explanation: The scene has to be secured first to prevent contamination. Once a forensic copy has been created, an analyst will begin the process of moving from most volatile to least volatile information. The chain of custody helps to protect the integrity and reliability of the evidence by keeping an evidence log that shows all access to evidence, from collection to appearance in court. Incorrect Answers: A: To prevent contamination, the scene should be secured first. B: The scene should be secured before taking inventory. C: Implementing a chain of custody can only occur once evidence has been accessed.
