NEW QUESTION: 4Which of the following devices could potentially stop a Structured Query Language (SQL) injection attack?
A. An intrusion prevention system (IPS)B. A host-based firewallC. An intrusion detection system (IDS)D. A host-based intrusion detection system (HIDS)
Answer: AExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:SQL injection attacks occur at the application layer. Most IPS vendors will detect at least basic sets of SQL injection and will be able to stop them. IDS will detect, but not prevent I IIDS will be unaware of SQL injection problems. A host-based firewall, be it on the web server or the database server, will allow the connection because firewalls do not check packets at an application layer.
