NEW QUESTION: 1Note: In this section, you'll see one or more sets of questions with the same scenario and problem. Each question presents a unique solution to the problem, and you must determine whether the solution meets the stated goals. Any of the solutions might solve the problem. It is also possible that none of the solutions solve the problem.Once you answer a question in this section, you will NOT be able to return to it. As a result, these questions will not appear in the review screen.Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution. Determine whether the solution meets the stated goals.Your network contains an Active Directory forest named contoso.com. The forest contains a member server named Server1 that runs Windows Server 2016. All domain controllers run Windows Server 2012 R2. Contoso com has the following configuration:You plan to deploy an Active Directory Federation Services (AD FS) farm on Server1 and to configure device registration. You need to configure Active Directory to support the planned deployment.Solution: You upgrade a domain controller to Windows Server 2016. Does this meet the goal?A. Yes*B. No*Answer: AExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:

NEW QUESTION: 2Which of the following is NOT true concerning Application Control?A. Only specific records can be requested through the application controls*B. Particular usage of the application can be recorded for audit purposes*C. It limits end users use of applications in such a way that only particular screens are visible.*D. It is non-transparent to the endpoint applications so changes are needed to the applications and databases involved*Answer: DExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Application control limits what users can see or do within the application. For example, if a user does not have the necessary access privilege to perform some functions, the functions can be hidden from the screen or the screen itself can be hidden so the user cannot select it within the application. In a similar way, only the records a user has access to can be displayed. Application control is transparent to the user; the user does not know that a particular screen, function or data records have been hidden. Application control can be implemented to record the activities a user performs within the application for auditing purposes. Incorrect Answers: A: It is true that application control limits end users use of applications in such a way that only particular screens are visible. B: It is true that only specific records can be requested through the application controls. C: It is true that particular usage of the application can be recorded for audit purposes by Application Control.
