NEW QUESTION: 1 Which statement describes the information returned by the DBMS_SPACE.SPACE_USAGE procedure for LOB space usage?A. It returns both BasicFile and SecureFile LOB space usage for both partitioned and nonpartitioned tables.B. It returns both BasicFile and SecureFile LOB space usage for only nonpartitioned tables.C. It returns space usage of only SecureFile LOB chunks.D. It returns space usage of only BasicFile LOB chunks.
Answer: C Explanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:SPACE_USAGE ProceduresThe first form of the procedure shows the space usage of data blocks under the segment High Water Mark. You can calculate usage for LOBs, LOB PARTITIONS and LOB SUBPARTITIONS. This procedure can only be used on tablespaces that are created with auto segment space management. The bitmap blocks, segment header, and extent map blocks are not accounted for by this procedure. Note that this overload cannot be used on SECUREFILE LOBs.The second form of the procedure returns information about SECUREFILE LOB space usage. It will return the amount of space in blocks being used by all the SECUREFILE LOBs in the LOB segment. The procedure displays the space actively used by the LOB column, freed space that has retention expired, and freed space that has retention unexpired. Note that this overload can be used only on SECUREFILE LOBs.

NEW QUESTION: 2 Refer to the exhibit.Using a stateful packet firewall and given an inside ACL entry of permit ip 192.16.1.0 0.0.0.255 any, what would be the resulting dynamically configured ACL for the return traffic on the outside ACL?A. permit ip 172.16.16.10 eq 80 192.168.1.0 0.0.0.255 eq 2300B. permit tcp any eq 80 host 192.168.1.11 eq 2300C. permit ip host 172.16.16.10 eq 80 host 192.168.1.0 0.0.0.255 eq 2300D. permit tcp host 172.16.16.10 eq 80 host 192.168.1.11 eq 2300Answer: DExplanation:
http://www.cisco.com/en/US/docs/security/security_management/cisco_security_manager/security_manager/4.1/user/guide/fwinsp.html Understanding Inspection Rules Inspection rules configure Context-Based Access Control (CBAC) inspection commands. CBAC inspects traffic that travels through the device to discover and manage state information for TCP and UDP sessions. The device uses this state information to create temporary openings to allow return traffic and additional data connections for permissible sessions.CBAC creates temporary openings in access lists at firewall interfaces. These openings are created when inspected traffic exits your internal network through the firewall. The openings allow returning traffic (that would normally be blocked) and additional data channels to enter your internal network back through the firewall. The traffic is allowed back through the firewall only if it is part of the same session as the original traffic that triggered inspection when exiting through the firewall. Inspection rules are applied after your access rules, so any traffic that you deny in the access rule is not inspected. The traffic must be allowed by the access rules at both the input and output interfaces to be inspected. Whereas access rules allow you to control connections at layer 3 (network, IP) or 4 (transport, TCP or UDP protocol), you can use inspection rules to control traffic using application-layer protocol session information.For all protocols, when you inspect the protocol, the device provides the following functions:* Automatically opens a return path for the traffic (reversing the source and destination addresses), so that you do not need to create an access rule to allow the return traffic. Each connection is considered a session, and the device maintains session state information and allows return traffic only for valid sessions. Protocols that use TCP contain explicit session information, whereas for UDP applications, the device models the equivalent of a session based on the source and destination addresses and the closeness in time of a sequence of UDP packets.These temporary access lists are created dynamically and are removed at the end of a session.* Tracks sequence numbers in all TCP packets and drops those packets with sequence numbers that are not within expected ranges.* Uses timeout and threshold values to manage session state information, helping to determine when to drop sessions that do not become fully established. When a session is dropped, or reset, the device informs both the source and destination of the session to reset the connection, freeing up resources and helping to mitigate potential Denial of Service (DoS) attacks.

(Choose the best answer.)A. Set up a Disqualification question asking, "Have you ever been convicted of a crime?" and designate the answer "No" with a Pass result.B. Set up a Disqualification question asking, "Have you ever been convicted of a crime?" and designate the answer "Yes" with a Fail result.C. Set up a Disqualification question asking, "Have you ever been convicted of a crime?" and designate the answer "Yes" with a To Be Verified result.D. Set up a Prescreening question asking, "Have you ever been convicted of a crime?" and designate the answer "Yes" with O weight.Answer: B
