They minimize disruptions while isolating the activity from their active system. How can this be accomplished? A. Order a pre-configured PCIe I/O drawer with built-in FICON cabling from the IBM Facilities Cabling Services. B. Order Fiber Quick Connect feature in combination with the fiber transport systems services from IBM Global Services. C. Consolidate FICON links using Optica's Prizm protocol converter. D. Activate High Performance FICON for z Systems (zHPF) to reduce the number of FICON links by reducing the FICON channel overhead. Answer: A Explanation: Under IBM Facilities Cabling Services there is the option to provide IBM Fiber Transport System (FTS) trunking commodities (fiber optic trunk cables, fiber harnesses, panel-mount boxes) for connecting to other z13s, Rockhopper, z13, Emperor, zBC12, zEC12, z114, z196, z10 BC, z10 EC, z9 BC, z9 EC, z890, and z990 servers. IBM can reduce the cable clutter and cable bulk under the floor.
