NEW QUESTION: 4Your cluster was originally created with nodes RACNODE1 and RACNODE2 three years ago. Last year, nodes RACNODE3 and RACNODE4 were added. These nodes have faster processors and more local storage than the original nodes making performance management and tuning more difficult. Two more nodes with the same processor speed have been added to the cluster last week as RACNODE5 and RACNODE6 and you must remove RACNODE1 and RACNODE2 for redeployment. The Oracle Grid Infrastructure is using GNS and the databases are all 11g Release 2, all running from the same home. The Grid home is /fs01/home/grid. Which three steps must be performed to remove the nodes from the cluster?

A. Run /fs01/home/grid/oui/bin/runInstaller -detachHome ORACLE_HOME=/fs01/home/grid as thegridsoftware owner on RACNODE1 and RACNODE2.
B. Run the /fs01/home/grid/crs/install/rootcrs.pl script as root on each node to be deleted.
C. Run /fs01/home/grid/oui/bin/runInstaller -updateNodeListORACLE_HOME=/fs01/home/grid "CLUSTER_NODES= {RACNODE3 , RACNODE4 ,RACNODE5 ,RACNODE6}as the grid software owner on any remaining node.
D. Run /fs01/home/grid/oui/bin/runInstaller -updateNodeList ORACLE_HOME=/fs01/home/grid " CLUSTER_NODES={RACNODE1}as the grid software owner on RACNODE1 and run /fs01/home/grid/oui/bin/runInstaller -updateNodeListORACLE_HOME=/fs01/home/grid " CLUSTER_NODES={RACNODE 2} as the grid softwareowner onRACNODE2.
E. Run crsctl delete node -n RACNODE1 and crsctl delete node -n RACNODE2 as root from anynode remaining in the cluster.

Answer: B,C,EExplanation:Deleting a Cluster Node on Linux and UNIX Systems1.Ensure that Grid_home correctly specifies the full directory path for the Oracle Clusterwarehome on each node, where Grid_home is the location of the installed Oracle Clusterwaresoftware.2.Run the following command as either root or the user that installed Oracle Clusterware todetermine whether the node you want to delete is active and whether it is pinned:$ olsnodes -s -tlf the node is pinned, then run the crsctl unpin css command. Otherwise, proceed to the next step.3.Disable the Oracle Clusterware applications and daemons running on the node. Run therootcrs.pl script as root from the Grid_home/crs/install directory on the node to be deleted, asfollows:# ./rootcrs.pl -deconfig -deinstall -forceIf you are deleting multiple nodes, then run the rootcrs.pl script on each node that you are deleting.If you are deleting all nodes from a cluster, then append the -lastnode option to the precedingcommand to clear OCR and the voting disks, as follows: # ./rootcrs.pl -deconfig -deinstall -force -lastnode 4.From any node that you are not deleting, run the following command from the Grid_home/bindirectory as root to delete the node from the cluster:# crsctl delete node -n node_to_be_deletedThen if you run a dynamic Grid Plug and Play cluster using DHCP and GNS, skip to step 7.5.On the node you want to delete, run the following command as the user that installed OracleClusterware from the Grid_home/oui/bin directory where node_to_be_deleted is the name of thenode that you are deleting:$./runInstaller -updateNodeList ORACLE_HOME=Grid_home "CLUSTER_NODES={node_to_be_deleted}" CRS=TRUE -silent -local6.On the node that you are deleting, depending on whether you have a shared or local Oraclehome, complete one of the following procedures as the user that installed Oracle Clusterware:If you have a shared home, then run the following command from the Grid_home/oui/bin directoryon the node you want to delete:$./runInstaller -detachHome ORACLE_HOME=Grid_home -silent -localFor a local home, deinstall the Oracle Clusterware home from the node that you want to delete, asfollows, by running the following command, where Grid_home is the path defined for the OracleClusterware home:$ Grid_home/deinstall/deinstall -local7.On any node other than the node you are deleting, run the following command from theGrid_home/oui/bin directory where remaining_nodes_list is a comma-delimited list of the nodesthat are going to remain part of your cluster:$./runInstaller -updateNodeList ORACLE_HOME=Grid_home "CLUSTER_NODES={remaining_nodes_list}" CRS=TRUE -silent8.Run the following CVU command to verify that the specified nodes have been successfullydeleted from the cluster:$ cluvfy stage -post nodedel -n node_list [-verbose]
