NEW QUESTION: 1Your company has a main office and three branch offices. The main office is located in Austin. The branch offices are located in Denver, San Diego, and Chicago. The network contains an Active Directory forest. The forest contains a single domain. Each office is configured as an Active Directory site. The site in Austin contains four domain controllers that run Windows Server 2008 R2 and are configured as global catalog servers. The sites in Denver, San Diego, and Chicago each contain a read-only domain controller (RODC) that runs Windows Server 2008 R2. No other domain controllers exist on the network. You plan to deploy an Exchange Server 2013 organization. Exchange Server 2013 servers will be deployed in the Austin, Denver, and San Diego sites. Users from the Chicago site will access their mailbox remotely. You need to recommend changes to the Active Directory infrastructure to support the planned deployment of Exchange Server 2013. What should you recommend?
A. Configure the RODCs in the Denver and San Diego sites as read-only global catalog servers.
B. Configure Active Directory automatic site coverage for the Chicago site.
C. Upgrade all of the RODCs to Windows Server 2012.
D. Replace the RODCs in the Denver and San Diego sites with domain controllers that are configured as global catalog servers.
Answer: D Explanation:

<http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/aa996719.aspx> There must be a writable copy of the global catalog at each site where an Exchange 2013 server is to be installed.

NEW QUESTION: 2DRAG DROP Note: This question is part of a series of questions that use the same scenario. For your convenience, the scenario is repeated in each question. Each question presents a different goal and answer choices, but the text of the scenario is exactly the same in each question in this series. You have a database named DB1 that contains the following tables: Customer, CustomerToAccountBridge, and CustomerDetails. The three tables are part of the Sales schema. The database also contains a schema named Website. You create the Customer table by running the following Transact-SQL statement: The value of the CustomerStatus column is equal to one for active customers. The value of the Account1Status and Account2Status columns are equal to one for active accounts. The following table displays selected columns and rows from the Customer table. You plan to create a view named Website.Customer and a view named Sales.FemaleCustomers.Website.Customer must meet the following requirements: 1. Allow users access to the CustomerName and CustomerNumber columns for active customers. 2. Allow changes to the columns that the view references. Modified data must be visible through the view. 3. Prevent the view from being published as part of Microsoft SQL Server replication. Sales.FemaleCustomers must meet the following requirements: 1. Allow users access to the CustomerName, Address, City, State and PostalCode columns. 2. Prevent changes to the columns that the view references. 3. Only allow updates through the views that adhere to the view filter. You have the following stored procedures:

spDeleteCustAcctRelationship and spUpdateCustomerSummary. The spUpdateCustomerSummary stored procedure was created by running the following Transact-SQL statement: You run the spUpdateCustomerSummary stored procedure to make changes to customer account summaries. Other stored procedures call the spDeleteCustAcctRelationship to delete records from the CustomerToAccountBridge table. You need to create Website Customer. How should you complete the view definition? To answer, drag the appropriate Transact-SQL segments to the correct locations. Each Transact-SQL segment may be used once, more than once or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content. NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point. Select and Place: Answer: Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Box 1: WITH ENCRYPTION Using WITH ENCRYPTION prevents the view from being published as part of SQL Server replication. Box 2: WITH CHECK OPTION CHECK OPTION forces all data modification statements executed against the view to follow the criteria set within select_statement. When a row is modified through a view, the WITH CHECK OPTION makes sure the data remains visible through the view after the modification is committed. Note: Website Customer must meet the following requirements: 1. Allow users access to the CustomerName and CustomerNumber columns for active customers. 2. Allow changes to the columns that the view references. Modified data must be visible through the view. 3. Prevent the view from being published as part of Microsoft SQL Server replication. Incorrect Answers: SCHEMABINDING binds the view to the schema of the underlying table or tables. When SCHEMABINDING is specified, the base table or tables cannot be modified in a way that would affect the view definition. VIEW_METADATA specifies that the instance of SQL Server will return to the DB-Library, ODBC, and OLE DB APIs the metadata information about the view, instead of the base table or tables, when browse-mode metadata is being requested for a query that references the view.
