Risk communication is mostly concerned with the nature of risk or expressing concerns, views, or reactions to risk managers or institutional bodies for risk management. The key plan to consider and communicate risk is to categorize and impose priorities, and acquire suitable measures to reduce risks. It is important throughout any crisis to put across multifaceted information in a simple and clear manner. Risk communication helps in switching or allocating the information concerning risk among the decision-maker and the stakeholders. Risk communication can be explained more clearly with the help of the following definitions: It defines the issue of what a group does, not just what it says. NEW QUESTION: 4 When designing a WLAN network to support both voice and context-aware services, which set of design principles should you follow? A. A voice and context-aware site survey can be one survey, but voice deployment recommendations take precedence over context-aware deployment recommendations. Context-aware surveys usually recommend too many APs, and APs need to be in local mode because APs in monitor mode spend too much time (2 sec) on each channel, listening for rogue activities, and often miss client or tag beaconing. B. A context-aware site survey usually recommends deploying more APs because of the requirement for perimeter coverage and four corners of a floor. However, voice deployment recommendations should be adopted because of the mission-critical nature of voice traffic. C. A voice and context-aware site survey can be one survey, and both voice and context-aware deployment recommendations can be implemented. APs that are not serving clients will be in monitor mode. D. A voice and context-aware site survey can be one survey, but voice deployment recommendations take precedence over context-aware deployment recommendations because the context-aware survey usually recommends too many APs and might introduce too much co-channel interference, negatively affecting voice quality. E. A voice and context-aware site survey can be one survey, but context-aware deployment recommendations take precedence over voice deployment recommendations because context-aware services require at least four APs to hear clients or tags at -75 dBm. An AP can provide adequate coverage to voice clients with acceptable SNR. Answer: C
