NEW QUESTION: 3You work as an administrator at Contoso.com. The Contoso.com network consists of a single domain named Contoso.com. All servers in the Contoso.com domain, including domain controllers, have Windows Server 2012 R2 installed. Contoso.com has a Hyper-V server, named ENSUREPASS-SR13, which hosts multiple virtual machines. You have enabled the use of Single-root I/O virtualization. Which of the following is TRUE with regards to using Single-root I/O virtualization? (Choose all that apply.)A. It maximizes network throughput, while minimizing network latency.B. It prevents the virtual machine from accessing the network switch directly.C. It maximizes network throughput, as well as network latency.D. It avoids the virtual switch stack and allows the virtual machine direct access to the actual network switch.Answer: A,DExplanation:SR-IOV enables network traffic to bypass the software switch layer of the Hyper-V virtualization stack. Because the VF is assigned to a child partition, the network traffic flows directly between the VF and child partition. As a result, the I/O overhead in the software emulation layer is diminished and achieves network performance that is nearly the same performance as in nonvirtualized environments.

NEW QUESTION: 4Caspar is responsible for interviewing the candidates who have passed the first round of the application process for a new position at a large technology firm in Nevada.

The first candidate that Caspar speaks to is a young woman with a strong resume and an accessible personality. Caspar is highly impressed and continues to remember the first candidate when he is interviewing the others. As a result, he rates the other candidates lower than the first, even though two of the other candidates have more experience than the first candidate and have even received several awards that she has not received. In conducting the interviews, Caspar has displayed which of the following types of interview bias?A. Negative emphasisB. Cultural noiseC. LeniencyD. ContrastE. Halo effect*Answer: D*Explanation: Explanation: Caspar's interview bias is one of contrast; he finds himself, however unconsciously, contrasting the other candidates with the first candidate that he interviews. A cultural noise bias (answer choice A) occurs when the candidate responds with pointed answers that are aimed at making the interviewer happy rather than responding in a more natural or general way. A halo bias (answer choice B) occurs when the interviewer considers only one quality of the candidate over his other qualities, such as shyness that might detract from the candidate's true record of achievement. A leniency bias (answer choice D) means the interviewer is lenient in regard to a candidate's potential weaknesses. A negative emphasis bias (answer choice E) means the interviewer places too much weight on the candidate's weaknesses.
