NEW QUESTION: 1Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution that might meet the stated goals. Some question sets might have more than one correct solution, while others might not have a correct solution.After you answer a question in this section, you will NOT be able to return to it. As a result, these questions will not appear in the review screen.You have an Azure Subscription named Sub1.You have an Azure Storage account named Sa1 in a resource group named RG1.Users and applications access the blob service and the file service in Sa1 by using several shared access signatures (SASs) and stored access policies.You discover that unauthorized users accessed both the file service and the blob service.You need to revoke all access to Sa1.Solution: You create a new stored access policy.Does this meet the goal?A. No*B. Yes*Answer: AExplanation:Shared access signatures provides access to a particular resource such as blog. Stored access policies are a group of Shared Access Signatures (SAS). In order to revoke access to a SAS you can either:1. Rotate the Key1 or Key 2, that is the access keys used to sign the SAS. Rotating the access keys used to sign the SAS, invalidates any previously signed SAS hence revoking the SAS issued before2. Remove the stored access policy which an SAS is linked to. If a Stored Access Policy is removed, it also invalidates the SASs liked to the Stored Access Policy.
