NEW QUESTION: 1You have a SQL Server 2012 database named Database1.You execute the following code:You insert 3 million rows into Sales.You need to reduce the amount of time it takes to execute Proc1.What should you do?A. Option B*B. Option D*C. Option A*D. Option C

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 2Most economists in the United States seem captivated by spell of the free market. Consequently, nothing seems good or normal that does not accord with the requirements of the free market.A price that is determined by the seller or for that matter, established by anyone other than the aggregate of consumers seems pernicious, accordingly, it requires a major act of will to think of price fixing (the determination of prices by the seller) as both "normal" and having a valuable economic function. In fact,price-fixing is normal in all industrialized societies because the industrial system itself provides, as an effortless consequence of its own development, the price-fixing that requires, Modern industrial planning requires and rewards great size. Hence a comparatively small number of large firms will be competing for the same group of consumers. That each large firm will act with consideration of its own needs and thus avoid selling its products for more than its competitors charge is commonly recognized by advocates of free-markets economic theories. But each large firms will also act with full consideration of the needs that it has in common with the other large firms competing for the same customers. Each large firm will thus avoid significant price cutting, because price cutting would be prejudicial to the common interest in a stable demand for products. Most economists do not see price-fixing when it occurs because they expect it to be brought about by a number of explicit agreements among large firms; it is not. More over those economists who argue that allowing the free market to operate without interference is the most efficient method of establishing prices have not considered the economies of non socialist countries other than the United States. These economies employ intentional price-fixing usually in an overt fashion. Formal price fixing by cartel and informal price fixing by agreements covering the members of an industry are common place. Were there something peculiarly efficient about the free market and inefficient about price fixing, the countries that have avoided the first and used the second would have suffered drastically in their economic development. There is no indication that they have. Socialist industry also works within a framework of controlled prices. In early 1970's, the Soviet Union began to give firms and industries some of the flexibility in adjusting prices that a more informal evolution has accorded the capitalist system. Economists in the United States have hailed the change as a return to the free market. But Soviet firms are no more subject to prices established by free market over which they exercise little influence than are capitalist firms. It can be inferred from the author's argument that a price fixed by the seller "seems pernicious" because A. most economists' associate fixed prices with communist and socialist economies B. people do not have confidence in large firms C. most economists believe that consumers as a group should determine prices. D. people do not expect the government to regulate prices E. Most economists believe that no one group should determine prices. Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3A. Option A B. Option D C. Option B D. Option C Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 4 Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains a domain controller named DC1 that runs Windows Server 2012. You have a Group Policy object (GPO) named GPO1 that contains several custom Administrative templates. You need to filter the GPO to display only settings that will be removed from the registry when the GPO falls out of scope. The solution must only display settings that are either enabled or disabled and that have a comment. How should you configure the filter? To answer, select the appropriate options below. Select three. A. Set Commented to: Yes B. Set Configured to: No C. Set Managed to: Any D. Set Managed to: No E. Set Configured to: Any F. Set Configured to: Yes G. Set Commented to: No H. Set Managed to: Yes I. Set Commented to: Any Answer: A, E, H
Explanation: A: Set Managed to: Yes There are two kinds of Administrative Template policy settings: Managed and Unmanaged. The Group Policy Client service governs Managed policy settings and removes a policy setting when it is no longer within scope of the user or computer. F: Set Configured to: Any We want to display both settings that are enabled and disabled. G: Set Commented to: Yes Only settings that are commented should be displayed. Note: Filter with Property Filters The Local Group Policy Editor allows you to change the criteria for displaying Administrative Template policy settings. By default, the editor displays all policy settings, including unmanaged policy settings. However, you can use property filters to change how the Local Group Policy Editor displays Administrative Template policy settings. There are three inclusive property filters that you can use to filter Administrative Templates. These property filters include: Managed Configured Commented
