NEW QUESTION: 2Based on the exhibited output,Which three statements are true? (Choose three.)A. The best path for R1 to reach the 192.168.1.48/28 prefix is via 192.168.1.66. B. 40512000 is the advertised distance (AD) via 192.168.1.66 to reach the 192.168.1.48/28 prefix. C. All the routes are in the passive mode because R1 is in the query process for those routes. D. R1 is in AS 200. E. R1 will load balance between three paths to reach the 192.168.1.48/28 prefix because all three paths have the same advertised distance (AD) of 40512000. F. All the routes are in the passive mode because these routes are in the hold-down state.*Answer: A,B,D
Explanation:It can be determined that AS 200 is used, from the fact that the IS-IS process ID is labeled as 200. The best path to reach the network 192.168.1.48/28 is the first one displayed in the routing table. This can be further demonstrated by the fact that the metric is less than the alternative route, via serial 0. Finally, the AD can be found by viewing the second number within the parentheses, which in this case is 40512000.
