NEW QUESTION: 1 A company wants to review the security requirements of Glacier. Which of the below mentioned statements is true with respect to the AWS Glacier data security?
A. All data stored on Glacier is protected with AES-256 serverside encryption.
B. The user can set the serverside encryption flag to encrypt the data stored on Glacier.
C. All data stored on Glacier is protected with AES-128 serverside encryption.
D. The data stored on Glacier is not encrypted by default.
Answer: A
Explanation: For Amazon Web Services, all the data stored on Amazon Glacier is protected using serverside encryption. AWS generates separate unique encryption keys for each Amazon Glacier archive, and encrypts it using AES-256. The encryption key then encrypts itself using AES-256 with a master key that is stored in a secure location.

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which option is true when allocating and verifying storage?
A. For expandable systems, JBODs can be allocated as "quarter/1" "half/1" or "whole."
B. In general, half JBODs are the preferred unit for managing storage, but quarter JBODs can be used where storage needs are small.
C. All devices must be connected and functioning before continuing past the verification step.
D. The allocation of hot spares depends on the storage profile chosen (for example, striped).
Answer: B
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Verification and Allocation The verification phase allows you to verify that all storage is attached and functioning, and allocates disks within chassis. In a standalone system, this presents a list of all available storage and drive types, with the ability to change the number of disks to allocate to the new pool. By default, the maximum number of disks are allocated, but this number can be reduced in anticipation of creating multiple pools. In an expandable system, JBODs are displayed in a list along with the head node, and allocation can be controlled within each JBOD. For each JBOD, the system must import available disks, a process that can take a significant amount of time depending on the number and configuration of JBODs. Disks within the system chassis can be allocated individually (as with cache devices), but JBODs must be allocated as either 'whole' or 'half'. In general, whole JBODs are the preferred unit for managing storage, but half JBODs can be used where storage needs are small, or where NSPF is needed in a smaller configuration. References:
