NEW QUESTION: 1 A company's website is used to sell products to the public. The site runs on Amazon EC2 instances in an Auto Scaling group behind an Application Load Balancer (ALB). There is also an Amazon CloudFront distribution and AWS WAF is being used to protect against SQL injection attacks. The ALB is the origin for the CloudFront distribution. A recent review of security logs revealed an external malicious IP that needs to be blocked from accessing the website. What should a solutions architect do to protect the application?
A. Modify the configuration of AWS WAF to add an IP match condition to block the malicious IP address.
B. Modify the network ACL for the EC2 instances in the target groups behind the ALB to deny the malicious IP address.
C. Modify the network ACL on the CloudFront distribution to add a deny rule for the malicious IP address.
D. Modify the security groups for the EC2 instances in the target groups behind the ALB to deny the malicious IP address.
Answer: A
Explanation: Reference: <https://docs.aws.amazon.com/waf/latest/developerguide/classic-web-acl-ip-conditions.html> A new version of the AWS Web Application Firewall was released in November 2019. With AWS WAF classic you create "IP match conditions", whereas with AWS WAF (new version) you create "IP set match statements". Look out for wording on the exam. The IP match condition / IP set match statement inspects the IP address of a web request's origin against a set of IP addresses and address ranges. Use this to allow or block web requests based on the IP addresses that the requests originate from. AWS WAF supports all IPv4 and IPv6 address ranges. An IP set can hold up to 10,000 IP addresses or IP address ranges to check.
CORRECT: "Modify the configuration of AWS WAF to add an IP match condition to block the malicious IP address" is the correct answer.
INCORRECT: "Modify the network ACL on the CloudFront distribution to add a deny rule for the malicious IP address" is incorrect as CloudFront does not sit within a subnet so network ACLs do not apply to it.
INCORRECT: "Modify the network ACL for the EC2 instances in the target groups behind the ALB to deny the malicious IP address" is incorrect as the source IP addresses of the data in the EC2 instances' subnets will be the ELB IP addresses.
INCORRECT: "Modify the security groups for the EC2 instances in the target groups behind the ALB to deny the malicious IP address." is incorrect as you cannot create deny rules with security groups.
References: <https://docs.aws.amazon.com/waf/latest/developerguide/waf-rule-statement-type-ipset-match.html> If you want to allow or block web requests based on the IP addresses that the requests originate from, create one or more IP match conditions. An IP match condition lists up to 10,000

IP addresses or IP address ranges that your requests originate from. Later in the process, when you create a web ACL, you specify whether to allow or block requests from those IP addresses. AWS Web Application Firewall (WAF) - Helps to protect your web applications from common application-layer exploits that can affect availability or consume excessive resources. As you can see in my post (New - AWS WAF), WAF allows you to use access control lists (ACLs), rules, and conditions that define acceptable or unacceptable requests or IP addresses. You can selectively allow or deny access to specific parts of your web application and you can also guard against various SQL injection attacks. We launched WAF with support for Amazon CloudFront

NEW QUESTION: 2A. Option CB. Option BC. Option DD. Option EE. Option AAnswer: D,E
Explanation:A: To develop a calculation script that exports a subset of data, you first specify the SETDATAEXPORTOPTIONS command to define options for export content, format, and process UseFIX...ENDFIX or EXCLUDE...ENDEXCLUDE calculations to select a slice of the database and use a DATAEXPORTCOND command to select data based on data values.Note: The DATAEXPORT command enables calculation scripts to export data in binary or text, or directly to a relational database. A set of data-export-related calculation commands qualify what data to export and provide various output and formatting options.Compared to using other methods to export data, using a calculation script has the following advantages and disadvantages:Advantages:Enables exporting a subset of data.*Supports multiple targets: flat files, relational databases, and binary files (not B, C, D)*Provides many flexible options for type and format or data.*As part of a calculation script, can be easily deployed in a batch process.*Can be very fast when the dynamic calculation export option is not used because DATAEXPORT directly accesses Kernel storage blocks in memory. (E)*Provides, through binary export-import, a faster way to back up and restore data because the compressed format used by binary export requires less storage for the export files.*Can be used as a debug tool to trace batch calculation results by using the DATAEXPORT command before and after other calculation commands to track data changes.DisadvantagesContains limited data formatting options compared to Report Writer formatting.

NEW QUESTION: 3Lists of hospitals have been compiled showing which hospitals have patient death rates exceeding the national average. The data have been adjusted to allow for differences in the ages of patients.Each of the following, if true, provides a good logical ground for hospitals to object to interpreting rank on these lists as one of the indices of the quality of hospital care EXCEPT:A. Rank order might indicate insignificant differences, rather than large differences, in numbers of patient deaths.B. Some hospitals serve a larger proportion of low-income patients, who tend to be more seriously ill when admitted to a hospital.C. Hospitals that keep patients longer are likely to have higher death rates than those that discharge patients earlier but do not record deaths of patients at home after discharge.D. Patients who are very old on admission to a hospital are less likely than younger patients to survive the same types of illnesses or surgical procedures.E. For-profit hospitals sometimes do not provide intensive-care units and other expensive services for very sick patients but refer or transfer such patients to other hospitals.Answer: DExplanation:Explanation/Reference:
