NEW QUESTION: 2 You need to create a design package for the publishing sites. What should you do? A. Use SharePoint Designer to create master pages and a design package. B. Use Visual Studio 2012 to create master pages and generate a design package. C. Use Design Manager. D. Use display templates. Answer: C Explanation: Explanation/Reference: In SharePoint 2013, Design Manager can help web developers and designers build and export the visual design of a SharePoint site collection as a package. This package can easily be distributed to customers, or other designated groups, for installation on their site collections. This new feature reduces the complexity of transporting designs, and makes it easier for customers to outsource the visual design of their sites. Scenario: During the creation and application of the design package to the publishing site, SharePoint 2013 out-of-the-box capabilities must be used as much as possible to ensure simple design changes and to simplify the upgrade procedures.
