NEW QUESTION: 1What is the name for the rate of discount from the list price that is paid to a municipal securities underwriting group member for its sales participation?A. concessionB. takedownC. commissionD. spread*Answer: B*Explanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation: takedown. The takedown is an additional allowance on bonds sold by a member.

NEW QUESTION: 2Which of the following BEST describes the type of attack that is occurring?A. BackdoorB. Ping of DeathC. ReplayD. Blue JackingE. Man in the middleF. Xmas AttackG. Smurf AttackH. Spear Phishing*Answer: G*Explanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation: The exhibit shows that all the computers on the network are being 'pinged'. This indicates that the ping request was sent to the network broadcast address. We can also see that all the replies were received by one (probably with a spoofed address) host on the network. This is typical of a smurf attack. A smurf attack is a type of network security breach in which a network connected to the Internet is swamped with replies to ICMP echo (PING) requests. A smurf attacker sends PING requests to an Internet broadcast address. These are special addresses that broadcast all received messages to the hosts connected to the subnet. Each broadcast address can support up to 255 hosts, so a single PING request can be multiplied 255 times. The return address of the request itself is spoofed to be the address of the attacker's victim. All the hosts receiving the PING request reply to this victim's address instead of the real sender's address. A single attacker sending hundreds or thousands of these PING messages per second can fill the victim's T-1 (or even T-3) line with ping replies, bring the entire Internet service to its knees. Smurfing falls under the general category of Denial of Service attacks -- security attacks that don't try to steal information, but instead attempt to disable a computer or network.

NEW QUESTION: 3Your customer is experiencing performance problems on a VSP system. They are using Performance Monitor to obtain performance information on several storage system components. NEW QUESTION: 4You are creating a SQL Server 2008 Integration Services (SSIS) package for Company.com. The package should contain a Data Flow task with a Fuzzy Grouping transformation that creates data. You should browser the output data of the Fuzzy Grouping transformation to debug the package. Which is the correct answer?A. You should increase a web service to the Data Flow task for constraints on the Fuzzy Grouping transformation.B. You should increase a Transactions log to the Data Flow task for constraints on the Fuzzy Grouping transformation.C. You should increase a DBCC SHRINKFILE to the Data Flow task for constraints on the Fuzzy Grouping transformation.D. You should increase a Data Viewer object to the Data Flow task for constraints on the Fuzzy Grouping transformation.*Answer: D*Explanation:Fuzzy Grouping Associates column values with a set of rows based on similarity, for data cleansing. SSIS Designer runs the package and provides detailed visual feedback about the pipeline.

Depending on the size of the reference data, you may notice a delay while the error-tolerant index (ETI) is built. The ETI is the main data structure that Fuzzy Lookup uses at run time. After the ETI is built, all the input rows are processed and the results are written to the destination. SSIS Designer gives you feedback about the progress of the pipeline by displaying the number of rows processed by each component. You can also place a Data Viewer on the pipeline by right-clicking the path between Fuzzy Lookup and the OLE DB destination. This allows you to visualize in real-time which rows Fuzzy Lookup has matched to your input rows. In addition to matching tuples, Fuzzy Lookup outputs a record-level similarity, individual column-level similarities, and a confidence score for each match result. For more information about these scores, see Interpreting the Results later in this paper.
