NEW QUESTION: 1The Amazonian wilderness harbors the greatest number of species on this planet and is an irreplaceable resource for present and future generations. Amazonia is crucial for maintaining global climate and genetic resources, and its forest and rivers provide vital sources of food, building materials, pharmaceuticals, and water needed by wildlife and humanity. The Los Amigos watershed in the state of Madre de Dios, southeastern Peru, is representative of the pristine lowland moist forest once found throughout most of upper Amazonian South America. Threats to tropical forests occur in the form of fishing, hunting, gold mining, timber extraction, impending road construction, and slash-and-burn agriculture. The Los Amigos watershed, consisting of 1.6 million hectares (3.95 million acres), still offers the increasingly scarce opportunity to study rainforest as it was before the disruptive encroachment of modern human civilization. Because of its relatively pristine condition and the immediate need to justify it as a conservation zone, this area deserves intensive, long-term projects aimed at botanical training, ecotourism, biological inventory, and information synthesis. On July 24, 2001, the government of Peru and the Amazon Conservation Association signed a contractual agreement creating the first long-term permanently renewable conservation concession. To our knowledge this is the first such agreement to be implemented in the world. The conservation concession protects 340,000 acres of old-growth Amazonian forest in the Los Amigos watershed, which is located in southeastern Peru. This watershed protects the eastern flank of Manu National Park and is part of the lowland forest corridor that links it to Bahuaja-Sonene National Park. The Los Amigos conservation concession will serve as a mechanism for the development of a regional center of excellence in natural forest management and biodiversity science. Several major projects are being implemented at the Los Amigos Conservation Area. Louise Emmons is initiating studies of mammal diversity and ecology in the Los Amigos area. Other projects involve studies of the diversity of arthropods, amphibians, reptiles, and birds. Robin Foster has conducted botanical studies at Los Amigos, resulting in the labeling of hundreds of plant species along two kilometers of trail in upland and lowland forest. Michael Goulding is leading a fisheries and aquatic ecology program, which aims to document the diversity of fish, their ecologies, and their habitats in the Los Amigos area and the Madre de Dios watershed in general. With support from the Amazon Conservation

Association, and in collaboration with U.S. and Peruvian colleagues, the Botany of the Los Amigos project has been initiated. At Los Amigos, we are attempting to develop a system of preservation, sustainability, and scientific research; a marriage between various disciplines, from human ecology to economic botany, product marketing to forest management. The complexity of the ecosystem will best be understood through a multidisciplinary approach, and improved understanding of the complexity will lead to better management. The future of these forests will depend on sustainable management and development of alternative practices and products that do not require irreversible destruction. The botanical project will provide a foundation of information that is essential to other programs at Los Amigos. By combining botanical studies with fisheries and mammology, we will better understand plant/animal interactions. By providing names, the botanical program will facilitate accurate communication about plants and the animals that use them. Included in this scenario are humans, as we will dedicate time to people-plant interactions in order to learn what plants are used by people in the Los Amigos area, and what plants could potentially be used by people. To be informed, we must develop knowledge. To develop knowledge, we must collect, organize, and disseminate information. In this sense, botanical information has conservation value. Before we can use plant-based products from the forest, we must know what species are useful and we must know their names. We must be able to identify them, to know where they occur in the forest, how many of them exist, how they are pollinated and when they produce fruit (or other useful products). Aside from understanding the species as they occur locally at Los Amigos, we must have information about their overall distribution in tropical America in order to better understand and manage the distribution, variation, and viability of their genetic diversity. This involves a more complete understanding of the species through studies in the field and herbarium. The author's tone in the passage can best be described as A. zealous advocacy for his point of view. B. passionate support for his and related projects. C. advocacy for his project over other competing projects. D. general praise for conservation projects in Amazonian South America. E. condemnation for the government of Peru for allowing destruction of the rain forest. Answer: B Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: This question calls for a little nuance. He does advocate for his project, but does not position it against other projects. Eliminate (A). B is too general. C is not accurate - he does not condemn the government. D. sounds good. E uses language that is too strong - he is not a zealot, but a scientist making his case in calm, rational language. D is correct.

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which of the following steps is/are NOT considered in the audit planning process? A. Determine how to manage the risks B. Identifying what is to be audited? C. Develop specific issues and Questions for the audit D. Assess risk and vulnerability Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 3 Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains an enterprise certification authority (CA) named CA1. You have a test environment that is isolated physically from the corporate network and the Internet. You deploy a web server to the test environment. On CA1, you duplicate the Web Server template, and you name the template Web_Cert_Test. For the web server, you need to request a certificate that does not contain the revocation information of CA1. What should you do first? A. From the properties of CA1, select Restrict enrollment agents, and then add Web_Cert_Test to the restricted enrollment agent. B. From the properties of Web_Cert_Test, assign the Enroll permission to the guest account. C. From the properties of Web_Cert_Test, set the Compatibility setting of CA1 to Windows Server 2016. D. From the properties of CA1, allow certificates to be published to the file system. Answer: C Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: The option "Do not include revocation information in issued certificates checkbox" is only available with the compatibility mode set to Windows Server 2008 R2 or later.
