NEW QUESTION: 1The component interface of a Web Dynpro component contains three interface views. Which of the following controllers must also exist?A. Three windows controllers B. One custom controllerC. One configuration controllerD. Three component controllers
Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2You are about to deploy the Cloud Analytics Engine in your data center. However, some of the devices in your data center are not supported by the Cloud Analytics Engine.In this scenario, which two actions would occur? (Choose two.)A. The QFX Series devices report more than the IP address and hop number.B. The non-Junos devices report more than the IP address and hop number.C. The MX Series devices only report the IP address and hop number.D. The EX Series devices report more than the IP address and hop number.
Answer: A,D

NEW QUESTION: 3You want to allow all of your company's users to access the Internet without allowing other Web servers to collect the IP addresses of individual users. What two solutions can you use? (Choose two.)A. Configure a firewall to use Port Address Translation.B. Assign unique IP addresses to all users.C. Install a Web content filter to hide users' local IP addresses. D. Assign the same IP address to all users.E. Configure a proxy server to hide users' local IP addresses.Answer: A,E
Explanation:ExplanationIn computer networks, a proxy server is a server (a computer system or an application) that acts as an intermediary for requests from clients seeking resources from other servers.[1] A client connects to the proxy server, requesting some service, such as a file, connection, web page, or other resource available from a different server and the proxy server evaluates the request as a way to simplify and control its complexity.Proxies were invented to add structure and encapsulation to distributed systems.[2] Today, most proxies are web proxies, facilitating access to content on the World Wide Web and providing anonymity.Source: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Proxy_server
Port Address Translation (PAT) is a subset of NAT, and it is still swapping out the source IP address as traffic goes through the NAT/PAT device, except with PAT everyone does not get their own unique translated address. Instead, the PAT device keeps track of individual sessions based on port numbers and other unique identifiers, and then forwards all packets using a single source IP address, which is shared. This is often referred to as NAT with overload; we are hiding multiple IP addresses on a single global address. Source: Cisco Official Certification Guide, Port Address Translation, p.368

NEW QUESTION: 4 Proper positioning for the child who is in Bryant's traction is: A. The affected leg extended with slight hip flexion B. Both hips and knees maintained at a 90-degree flexion angle, and the back flat on the bed C. Both legs extended, and the hips are not flexed D. Both hips flexed at a 90-degree angle with the knees extended and the buttocks elevated off the bed
Answer: D
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: (A) The child's weight supplies the countertraction for Bryant's traction; the buttocks are slightly elevated off the bed, and the hips are flexed at a 90-degree angle. Both legs are suspended by skin traction. (B) The child in Buck's extension traction maintains the legs extended and parallel to the bed. (C) The child in Russell traction maintains hip flexion of the affected leg at the prescribed angle with the leg extended. (D) The child in "90-90" traction maintains both hips and knees at a 90-degree flexion angle and the back is flat on the bed.
