NEW QUESTION: 1You administer a Microsoft SQL Server 2016 default instance. The instance is hosted by a server that has a local firewall configured. The firewall only allows inbound connections on port 1433. The server only hosts a single instance of SQL Server. You need to ensure that the instance is configured to allow remote connections even if the SQL Server is unresponsive to client connections. What should you do? A. Execute the following Transact-SQL command: `sp_configure 'remote admin connections', 1`. B. Enable inbound connections on TCP port 1434 in the Windows Firewall on the server. C. Execute the Reconfigure command. D. Enable inbound connections on TCP port 135 in the Windows Firewall on the server. E. Execute the following Transact-SQL command: `sp_configure 'remote access', 1`. F. Restart the SQL Server Agent Service. Answer: A,B,C Explanation: Explanation/Reference: SQL Server provides a dedicated administrator connection (DAC). The DAC lets an administrator access a running server to execute diagnostic functions or Transact-SQL statements, or to troubleshoot problems on the server, even when the server is locked or running in an abnormal state and not responding to a SQL Server Database Engine connection. By default, the DAC is only available from a client on the server. To enable client applications on remote computers to use the DAC, use the remote admin connections option of `sp_configure`. By default, the DAC only listens on the loop-back IP address (127.0.0.1), port 1434. The following example enables the DAC from a remote computer. `sp_configure 'remote admin connections', 1;GO RECONFIGURE;GO` References: <https://docs.microsoft.com/en-us/sql/database-engine/configure-windows/remote-admin-connections-server-configuration-option>

Which clinical manifestation would be most indicative of true labor? A. Uterine contractions B. Decreased discomfort with ambulation C. Increased bloody show D. Progressive dilatation and effacement of the cervix Answer: D Explanation: Explanation (A) Bloody show is considered a sign of imminent labor, which usually begins in 24-48 hours. An increase in bloody show is an indication that the cervix is changing. (B) Contractions of true labor produce progressive cervical effacement and dilatation. (C)
