NEW QUESTION: 1You have an Azure subscription that contains three virtual networks named VNet1, VNet2, VNet3. VNet2 contains a virtual appliance named VM2 that operates as a router. You are configuring the virtual networks in a hub and spoke topology that uses VNet2 as the hub network. You plan to configure peering between VNet1 and VNet2 and between VNet2 and VNet3. You need to provide connectivity between VNet1 and VNet3 through VNet2. Which two configurations should you perform? Each correct answer presents part of the solution. NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point. A. On the peering connections, allow gateway transit. B. On the peering connections, use remote gateways. C. On the peering connections, allow forwarded traffic. D. Create route tables and assign the table to subnets. E. Create a route filter. Answer: A,B Explanation: Explanation Allow gateway transit: Check this box if you have a virtual network gateway attached to this virtual network and want to allow traffic from the peered virtual network to flow through the gateway. The peered virtual network must have the Use remote gateways checkbox checked when setting up the peering from the other virtual network to this virtual network. NEW QUESTION: 3 What are two drawbacks of implementing a link-state routing protocol? (Choose two.) A. the high volume of link-state advertisements in a converged network B. the requirement for a hierarchical IP addressing scheme for optimal functionality C. the sequencing and acknowledgment of link-state packets D. the high demand on router resources to run the link-state routing algorithm E. the large size of the topology table listing all advertised routes in the converged network Answer: B, D Explanation: Link State routing protocols, such as OSPF and IS-IS, converge more quickly than their distance vector routing protocols such as RIPv1, RIPv2, EIGRP and so on, through the use of flooding and triggered updates. In link state protocols, changes are flooded immediately and computed in parallel. Triggered updates improve convergence time by requiring routers to send an update message immediately upon learning of a route change. These updates are triggered by some event, such as a new link becoming available or an existing link failing. The main drawbacks to link state routing protocols are the amount of CPU overhead involved in calculating route changes and memory resources that are required to store neighbor tables, route tables and a complete topology table.
