NEW QUESTION: 1How Does the Speaker Feel about War?War Is KindDo not weep, maiden, for war is kind. Because your lover threw wild hands toward the sky And the affrighted steed ran on alone, Do not weep. War is kind. Hoarse, booming drums of the regiment Little souls who thirst for fight, These men were born to drill and die The unexplained glory flies above them Great is the battle-god, great, and his kingdom -A field where a thousand corpses lie. Do not weep, babe, for war is kind. Because your father tumbled in the yellow trenches, Raged at his breast, gulped and died, Do not weep. War is kind. Swift, blazing flag of the regiment Eagle with crest of red and gold, These men were born to drill and die Point for them the virtue of slaughter Make plain to them the excellence of killing And a field where a thousand corpses lie.Mother whose heart hung humble as a button On the bright splendid shroud of your son, Do not weep. War is kind.- Stephen Crane, 1899The speaker calls the "kingdom" of the "battlegod" (lines 13-14) a "field where a thousand corpses lie" (line15) and repeats line 15 again in line 27. What is the effect of this line and its repetition?A. It shows how many casualties you can expect in a war.B. It demonstrates the might of the battle god.C. It makes us fear the anger of such a powerful god.D. It reminds us to expect many deaths in a battle.E. It shows us that the battle-god is a terrible god who should not be worshipped.Answer: EExplanation:Explanation/Reference: Explanation:If the kingdom of a god is only corpses, he must be a powerful god (he can create such death and destruction), but he is also a terrible god who lacks love and compassion. In addition, if his kingdom is only corpses, then he has no living worshippers to follow him, so his power is paradoxical and, essentially, useless. These lines do show that the battle-god is mighty (choice a), but the theme of the poem is the terrible nature of war, so e is a better choice. There are indeed many casualties in a war (choice b) and many deaths in a battle (choice c), but these ideas do not convey an attitude toward war, and repetition is usually used to help convey theme. The poem does not try to make us afraid of war; rather, it wants us to see the terrible nature of war, so choice d is incorrect.
