NEW QUESTION: 3 Which two statements about the command distance bgp 90 60 120 are true? (Choose two.) A. The local distance it netn may conflict with the RIP administrative distance. B. The internal distance it netn may conflict with the EIGRP administrative distance. C. Implementing the command in a Cisco bent practice. D. The internal distance it netn is preferred over the external distance. E. The local distance it netn may conflict with the EIGRP administrative distance. F. The external distance it netn is preferred over the internal distance. Answer: A, D Explanation: To allow the use of external, internal, and local administrative distances that could be a better route than other external, internal, or local routes to a node, use the distance bgp command in address family or router configuration mode. To return to the default value, use the no form of this command. distance bgp external-distance internal-distance local-distance no distance bgp Syntax Description external- Administrative distance for BGP external routes. External routes are distance routes for which the best path is learned from a neighbor external to the autonomous system. Acceptable values are from 1 to 255. The default is 20. Routes with a distance of 255 are not installed in the routing table. internal- Administrative distance for BGP internal routes. Internal routes are those distance routes that are learned from another BGP entity within the same autonomous system. Acceptable values are from 1 to 255. The default is 200. Routes with a distance of 255 are not installed in the routing table. local- Administrative distance for BGP local routes. Local routes are those distance routes learned with a network router configuration command, often an back door, for that router or for networks that are being redistributed from another process. Acceptable values are from 1 to 255. The default is 200. Routes with a distance of 255 are not installed in the routing table. Default external-distance: 20 internal-distance: 200 local-distance: 200 In this case, the internal distance is 60 and the external is 90, and the local distance is 120 (name an RIP).
