Answer: B,E

NEW QUESTION: 3A company has contracted with an external consulting firm to implement a commercial financial system to replace its existing system developed in-house. In reviewing the proposed development approach, which of the following would be of GREATEST concern?
A. Not all business functions will be available on initial implementation. B. Acceptance testing is to be managed by users. C. A quality plan is not part of the contracted deliverables. D. Prototyping is being used to confirm that the system meets business requirements.
Answer: C
Explanation:A quality plan is an essential element of all projects. It is critical that the contracted supplier be required to produce such a plan. The quality plan for the proposed development contract should be comprehensive and encompass all phases of the development and include which business functions will be included and when. Acceptance is normally managed by the user area, since they must be satisfied that the new system will meet their requirements. If the system is large, a phased-in approach to implementing the application is a reasonable approach. Prototyping is a valid method of ensuring that the system will meet business requirements.

NEW QUESTION: 4According to COSO, which of the following describes a principle related to the control environment?
A. The organization performs evaluations to ascertain whether internal control components are present and functioning. B. The organization establishes appropriate authorities and responsibilities in the pursuit of objectives. C. The organization selects and develops control activities that contribute to the mitigation of risks. D. The organization identifies and assesses changes that could significantly impact the system of internal control.
Answer: B
