NEW QUESTION: 1 Bubba owns 100 shares of XYZ at $58. He needs to limit his loss to 5 points or less and will accept a longer time for the order to be executed, to make sure the loss does not exceed 5 points. Which of the following orders would be the best recommendation?
A. sell limit order
B. sell stop order
C. buy stop order
D. sell stop-limit order
Answer: D
Explanation: sell stop-limit order. A sell stop-limit order specifies a price, but will not turn into a market order. This order will only get executed at the price or better. Stop orders, although quicker in execution, will turn into market orders and the customer will not be guaranteed a specific price. Stop-limit orders are risky, in that the order may or may not get executed, but in this situation, it is the best choice.

NEW QUESTION: 2 Drag and drop the MAC address types from the left onto the correct descriptions on the right?
Answer: Explanation: Explanation

NEW QUESTION: 3 You are one of two network administrators for your organization. Your IT partner does most of the work in Active Directory. While working in Active Directory, your partner accidentally deleted a user from the Sales OU. You recover the user from tape backup but you want to help prevent this from happening again in the future. What can you do?
A. Use ADSI Edit to restore the user.
B. Take away all rights from the other administrator.
C. Use the Directory Services Restore Mode Lockout command.
D. Enable the Active Directory Recycle Bin.

Answer: D
Explanation:

<http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/dd392261%28v=ws.10%29.aspx> Active Directory Recycle Bin Step-by-Step Guide
Active Directory Recycle Bin helps minimize directory service downtime by enhancing your ability to preserve and restore accidentally deleted Active Directory objects without restoring Active Directory data from backups, restarting Active Directory Domain Services (AD DS), or rebooting domain controllers. When you enable Active Directory Recycle Bin, all link-valued and non-link-valued attributes of the deleted Active Directory objects are preserved and the objects are restored in their entirety to the same consistent logical state that they were in immediately before deletion. For example, restored user accounts automatically regain all group memberships and corresponding access rights that they had immediately before deletion, within and across domains. Active Directory Recycle Bin is functional for both AD DS and Active Directory Lightweight Directory Services (AD LDS) environments. Important-By default, Active Directory Recycle Bin in Windows Server 2008 R2 is disabled. To enable it, you must first raise the forest functional level of your AD DS or AD LDS environment to Windows Server 2008 R2, which in turn requires all forest domain controllers or all servers that host instances of AD LDS configuration sets to be running Windows Server 2008 R2. After you set the forest functional level of your environment to Windows Server 2008 R2, you can use the instructions in this guide to enable Active Directory Recycle Bin.-In this release of Windows Server 2008 R2, the process of enabling Active Directory Recycle Bin is irreversible. After you enable Active Directory Recycle Bin in your environment, you cannot disable it.
