NEW QUESTION: 1 What is the result of enabling spanning tree in a network?A. Creates a loop-free layer-2 topology.B. Reduces the number of broadcasts necessary by forwarding a specific subnet.C. Selects the best path between LAN for redundancy.D. Defined by IEEE 802.1D to enforce a hybrid ring network topology.Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 2A. Option DB. Option AC. Option BD. Option CAnswer: CExplanation:A String object concatenation operation always creates a new object from the existing string and the new data. A StringBuilder object maintains a buffer to accommodate the concatenation of new data. New data is appended to the buffer if room is available; otherwise, a new, larger buffer is allocated, data from the original buffer is copied to the new buffer, and the new data is then appended to the new buffer. The performance of a concatenation operation for a String or StringBuilder object depends on the frequency of memory allocations. A String concatenation operation always allocates memory, whereas a StringBuilder concatenation operation allocates memory only if the StringBuilder object buffer is too small to accommodate the new data. Use the String class if you are concatenating a fixed number of String objects. In that case, the compiler may even combine individual concatenation operations into a single operation. Use a StringBuilder object if you are concatenating an arbitrary number of strings; for example, if you're using a loop to concatenate a random number of strings of user input. http://msdn.microsoft.com/en-us/library/system.text.stringbuilder(v=vs.110).aspx
