NEW QUESTION: 3 Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution that might meet the stated goals. Some question sets might have more than one correct solution, while others might not have a correct solution. After you answer a question in this section, you will NOT be able to return to it. As a result, these questions will not appear in the review screen.

Your company is developing a new business intelligence application that will access data in a Microsoft Azure SQL Database instance. All objects in the instance have the same owner. A new security principal named BI_User requires permission to run stored procedures in the database. The stored procedures read from and write to tables in the database. None of the stored procedures perform IDENTIFY_INSERT operations or dynamic SQL commands. The scope of permissions and authentication of BI_User should be limited to the database. When granting permissions, you should use the principle of least privilege. You need to create the required security principals and grant the appropriate permissions.

Solution: You run the following Transact-SQL statement: Does the solution meet the goal? A. No B. Yes

Answer: B

Explanation: One method of creating multiple lines of defense around your database is to implement all data access using stored procedures or user-defined functions. You revoke or deny all permissions to underlying objects, such as tables, and grant EXECUTE permissions on stored procedures. This effectively creates a security perimeter around your data and database objects.

Best Practices Simply writing stored procedures isn't enough to adequately secure your application. You should also consider the following potential security holes. Grant EXECUTE permissions on the stored procedures for database roles you want to be able to access the data. Revoke or deny all permissions to the underlying tables for all roles and users in the database, including the public role. All users inherit permissions from public. Therefore denying permissions to public means that only owners and sysadmin members have access; all other users will be unable to inherit permissions from membership in other roles. Do not add users or roles to the sysadmin or db_owner roles. System administrators and database owners can access all database objects.

NEW QUESTION: 4 You need to ensure that all messages from Azure Event Grid are processed. What should you use? A. Azure Event Grid topic B. Azure Service Bus queue C. Azure Service Bus topic D. Azure Storage queue E. Azure Logic App custom connector

Explanation: As a solution architect/developer, you should consider using Service Bus queues when:

- * Your solution needs to receive messages without having to poll the queue. With Service Bus, you can achieve it by using a long-polling receive operation using the TCP-based protocols that Service Bus* supports.

You are a developer for Proseware, Inc. You are developing an application that applies a set of governance policies for Proseware's internal services, external services, and applications. The application will also provide a shared library for common functionality. Requirements Policy service You develop and deploy a stateful ASP.NET Core 2.1 web application named Policy service to an Azure App Service Web App. The application reacts to events from Azure Event Grid and performs policy actions based on those events. The application must include the Event Grid Event ID field in all Application Insights telemetry. Policy service must use Application Insights to automatically scale with the number of policy actions that it is performing. Policies Log policy All Azure App Service Web Apps must write logs to Azure Blob storage. All log files should be saved to a container named logdrop. Logs must remain in the container for 15 days. Authentication events Authentication events are used to monitor users signing in and signing out. All authentication events must be processed by Policy service. Sign outs must be processed as quickly as possible. PolicyLib You have a shared library named PolicyLib that contains functionality common to all ASP.NET Core web services and applications. The PolicyLib library must: * Exclude non-user actions from Application Insights telemetry. * Provide methods that allow a web service to scale itself. * Ensure that scaling actions do not disrupt application usage. Other Anomaly detection service You have an anomaly detection service that analyzes log information for anomalies. It is implemented as an Azure Machine Learning model. The model is deployed as a web service. If an anomaly is detected, an Azure Function that emails administrators is called by using an HTTP WebHook. Health monitoring All web applications and services have health monitoring at the /health service endpoint. Issues Policy loss When you deploy Policy service, policies may not be applied if they were in the process of being applied during the deployment. Performance issue When under heavy load, the anomaly detection service undergoes slowdowns and rejects connections. Notification latency Users report that anomaly detection emails can sometimes arrive several minutes after an anomaly is detected.
