NEW QUESTION: 1 ABC Corporation has introduced token-based authentication to system administrators due to the risk of password compromise. The tokens have a set of HMAC counter-based codes and are valid until they are used. Which of the following types of authentication mechanisms does this statement describe? A. TOTP B. PAP C. CHAP D. HOTP
Answer: D
Explanation: The question states that the HMAC counter-based codes and are valid until they are used. These are "one-time" use codes. HOTP is an HMAC-based one-time password (OTP) algorithm. HOTP can be used to authenticate a user in a system via an authentication server. Also, if some more steps are carried out (the server calculates subsequent OTP value and sends/displays it to the user who checks it against subsequent OTP value calculated by his token), the user can also authenticate the validation server. Both hardware and software tokens are available from various vendors. Hardware tokens implementing OATH HOTP tend to be significantly cheaper than their competitors based on proprietary algorithms. Some products can be used for strong passwords as well as OATH HOTP. Software tokens are available for (nearly) all major mobile/smartphone platforms.
Incorrect Answers: A: TOTP is Time-based One-time Password. This is similar to the one-time password system used in this question. However, TOTPs expire after a period of time. In this question, the passwords (codes) expire after first use regardless of the timing of the first use. B: PAP (Password Authentication Protocol) is a simple authentication protocol in which the user name and password is sent to a remote access server in a plaintext (unencrypted) form. PAP is not what is described in this question. C: CHAP (Challenge-Handshake Authentication Protocol) is an authentication protocol that provides protection against replay attacks by the peer through the use of an incrementally changing identifier and of a variable challenge-value. CHAP requires that both the client and server know the plaintext of the secret, although it is never sent over the network. CHAP is not what is described in this question.

NEW QUESTION: 2 When the first packet in a new flow is received, which high-end SRX component is responsible for setting up the flow? A. I/O card B. network processing card C. Routing Engine D. services processing card
Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3 Refer to exhibit. What are two reasons for IP SLA tracking failure? (Choose two)
A. A route back to the R1 LAN network is missing in R2
B. The default route has wrong next hop IP address
C. The destination must be 172.30.30.2 for icmp-echo
D. The threshold value is wrong
E. The source-interface is configured incorrectly
Answer: A, D
Explanation: Timeout (in milliseconds) sets the amount of time an IP SLAs operation waits for a response from its request packet. In other words, the timeout specifies how long the router should wait for a response to its ping before it is considered failed. Threshold (in milliseconds too) sets the upper threshold value for calculating network monitoring statistics created by an IP SLAs operation. Threshold is used to activate a response to IP SLA violation, e.g. send SNMP trap or start secondary SLA operation. In other words, the threshold value is only used to indicate over threshold events, which do not affect reachability but may be used to evaluate the proper settings for the timeout command. For reachability tracking, if the return code is OK or OverThreshold, reachability is up; if not OK, reachability is down. This tutorial can help you revise IP SLA tracking topic:

<http://www.firewall.cx/cisco-technical-knowledgebase/cisco-routers/813-cisco-router-ipsla-basic.html> and <http://www.ciscozine.com/using-ip-sla-to-change-routing/>
Note: Maybe some of us will wonder why there are these two commands:
R1(config)#ip route 0.0.0.0 0.0.0.0 172.20.20.2 track 10
R1(config)#no ip route 0.0.0.0 0.0.0.0 172.20.20.2
In fact the two commands:
ip route 0.0.0.0 0.0.0.0 172.20.20.2 track 10
ip route 0.0.0.0 0.0.0.0 172.20.20.2
are different. These two static routes can co-exist in the routing table. Therefore if the tracking goes down, the first command will be removed but the second one still exists and the backup path is not preferred. So we have to remove the second one.
