NEW QUESTION: 1 Which two are valid Identity Sources when configuring vCenter Single Sign-On? (Choose two.) A. Radius B. NIS C. Local OS D. OpenLDAP Answer: C, D
Explanation: Active Directory (Integrated Windows Authentication) Use this option for native Active Directory implementations. The machine on which the vCenter Single Sign-On service is running must be in an Active Directory domain if you want to use this option. See Active Directory Identity Source Settings. Active Directory as an LDAP Server This option is available for backward compatibility. It requires that you specify the domain controller and other information. See Active Directory LDAP Server and OpenLDAP Server Identity Source Settings. OpenLDAP Use this option for an OpenLDAP identity source. See Active Directory LDAP Server and OpenLDAP Server Identity Source Settings. Local OS Use this option to add the local operating system as an identity source. You are prompted only for the name of the local operating system. If you select this option, all users on the specified machine are visible to vCenter Single Sign-On, even if those users are not part of another domain. Reference:
