NEW QUESTION: 1You work as a Software Developer for UcTech Inc. You are building a Web site that will contain study materials on the Java language. The company wants that members can access all the pages, but non-members have only limited access to the Web site pages. Which of the following security mechanisms will you use to accomplish the task?A. ConfidentialityB. AuthenticationC. AuthorizationD. Data integrityAnswer: C*Explanation: Authorization is a process that verifies whether a user has permission to access a Web resource. A Web server can restrict access to some of its resources to only those clients that log in using a recognized username and password. To be authorized, a user must first be authenticated. Answer B is incorrect. Authentication is the process of verifying the identity of a user. This is usually done using a user name and password. This process compares the provided user name and password with those stored in the database of an authentication server. Answer C is incorrect. Confidentiality is a mechanism that ensures that only the intended and authorized recipients are able to read data. The data is so encrypted that even if an unauthorized user gets access to it, he will not get any meaning out of it. Answer A is incorrect. Data integrity is a mechanism that ensures that the data is not modified during transmission from source to destination. This means that the data received at the destination should be exactly the same as that sent from the source.
