NEW QUESTION: 1 Donna created a full-text index for the PerformanceReview database, and she was careful to select the "Index encrypted fields" option. But the HR managers, who all have the secret key that they use to encrypt the data, have reported that their search results are not yielding the expected results. What is one possible reason for this?A. The "Index encrypted fields" setting applies only to documents added after the full-text index is created or to documents edited and saved after the index is created.B. The "Index encrypted fields" setting enables the indexing. The next step before creating the index is to designate the specific encrypted fields that are to be indexed.C. The full-text index was created with an id that did not include an encryption key capable of decrypting fields before indexing.D. Encrypted fields can be indexed only from a database replica residing on the administration server as specified on the Advanced tab of the database ACL. Donna had indexed the database on the application server.Answer: C
