NEW QUESTION: 2Which of the following expressions represents Jensen's alpha, where is the expected return, is the standard deviation of returns, r_m is the return of the market portfolio and r_f is the risk free rate:A. <https://www.riskprep.com/images/stories/questions/102.12.b.png>
B) <https://www.riskprep.com/images/stories/questions/102.12.d.png>
C) <https://www.riskprep.com/images/stories/questions/102.12.c.png>
D) <https://www.riskprep.com/images/stories/questions/102.12.a.png>B. Option B
C. Option C
D. Option D
Option AAnswer: B
Explanation:ExplanationThe Sharpe ratio is the ratio of the excess returns of a portfolio to its volatility. It provides an intuitive measure of a portfolio's excess return over the risk free rate. The Sharpe ratio is calculated as $[(\text{Portfolio return} - \text{Risk free return}) / \text{Portfolio standard deviation}]$. The Treynor ratio is similar to the Sharpe ratio, but instead of using volatility in the denominator, it uses the portfolio's beta. Therefore the Treynor Ratio is calculated as $[(\text{Portfolio return} - \text{Risk free return}) / \text{Portfolio's beta}]$. Therefore Choice 'a' is the correct answer. Jensen's alpha is another risk adjusted performance measure. It considers only the 'alpha', or the return attributable to a portfolio manager's skill. It is the difference between the return of the portfolio, and what the portfolio should theoretically have earned. Any portfolio can be expected to earn the risk free rate (rf), plus the market risk premium (which is given by $[\text{Beta} \times (\text{Market portfolio's return} - \text{Risk free rate})]$). Jensen's alpha is therefore the actual return earned less the risk free rate and the beta return. Choice 'c' is the correct answer. Refer to the tutorial on risk adjusted performance measures for more details.

NEW QUESTION: 3 After installing a new printer software package which came with print drivers, a user is experiencing problems launching other applications. Which of the following should the technician do to resolve the user's printing problem? A. Defragment the system. B. Run a backup of the current state. C. Update the antivirus definition. D. Run the system restore.
Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 4 Which statement describes the key security service that is provided by the TLS Proxy function on a Cisco ASA appliance? A. It only applies to encrypted voice calls where both parties utilize encryption. B. It manipulates the call signaling to ensure that all media is routed via the adaptive security appliance. C. It protects Cisco Unified Communications Manager from rogue soft clients and attackers on the data VLAN. D. It enables internal phones to communicate with external phones without encryption. E. It provides interworking to ensure that external IP phone traffic is encrypted, even if the rest of the system is unencrypted.

Answer: A Explanation: TLS Proxy is typically deployed in front of Cisco Unified Communications Manager and other unified communications application servers that utilize media encryption. TLS Proxy is not designed to provide remote-access encryption services for remote phones or client endpoints. Other solutions such as Cisco ASA Phone Proxy or IP Security/Secure Sockets Layer (IPsec/SSL) VPN services are more appropriate. TLS Proxy is not designed to provide a secure campus soft phone solution where the requirement is to provide secure data to phone VLAN traversal or for proxying connections to Cisco Unified Communications Manager.
