NEW QUESTION: 2DRAG DROPYou are building a fact table in a data warehouse. The table must have a columnstore index. The table cannot be partitioned. You need to design the fact table and load it with data. Which three actions should you perform in sequence? (To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.) Select and Place:Answer: Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Only nonclustered columnstore indexes are available in SQL Server 2012 so when the index is created, you cannot update the table (without using partition switching). Therefore you have to load the data BEFORE creating the index. In SQL Server 2014, you could create a clustered columnstore index which would allow updates to the table after the index is created.

NEW QUESTION: 3Which three are true about using RMAN in a Data Guard environment? (Choose three.)A. A recovery catalog is required when RMAN is used to take backups from a logical standby database in a Data Guard configuration if you plan to recover the primary using those backups.B. A recovery catalog is required when RMAN is used to take backups from a physical standby database if you plan to recover the primary using those backups.C. Backups of data files taken on a physical standby are interchangeable with a primary.D. Backups of control files taken on a physical standby are not interchangeable with a primary.E. Backups of archived redo logs taken on a physical standby are interchangeable with a primary.Answer: B,C,E Explanation: Explanation RMAN uses a recovery catalog to track filenames for all database files in a Data Guard environment. A recovery catalog is a database schema used by RMAN to store metadata about one or more Oracle databases. The catalog also records where the online redo logs, standby redo logs, tempfiles, archived redo logs, backup sets, and image copies are created. RMAN commands use the recovery catalog metadata to behave transparently across different physical databases in the Data Guard environment. For example, you can back up a tablespace on a physical standby database and restore and recover it on the primary database. Similarly, you can back up a tablespace on a primary database and restore and recover it on a physical standby database.
