NEW QUESTION: 1 A newly discovered malware has a known behavior of connecting outbound to an external destination on port 27500 for the purposes of exfiltrating data. The following are four snippets taken from running netstat -anon separate Windows workstations: Based on the above information, which of the following is MOST likely to be exposed to this malware?
A. Workstation D
B. Workstation B
C. Workstation C
D. Workstation A
Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which two statements about the bgp deterministic-med and bgp always-compare-med commands are true? (Choose two)
A. The bgp deterministic-med command is used to influence the BGP route selection process to cause the MED attribute to have higher precedence over the AS path length
B. The bgp deterministic-med and bgp always-compare-med commands are enabled by default.
C. The bgp always-compare-med command is used to influence the BGP route selection process to cause the MED attribute to have higher precedence over the AS path system.
D. Enabling the bgp deterministic-med command ensures the comparison of the MED variable when choosing routes advertised by different peers in the same autonomous system.
E. Enabling the bgp always-compare-med command ensures the comparison of the MED variable for paths from neighbors in different autonomous systems.
Answer: D, E
Explanation: Enabling the bgp deterministic-med command ensures the comparison of the MED variable when choosing routes advertised by different peers in the same autonomous system. Enabling the bgp always-compare-med command ensures the comparison of the MED for paths from neighbors in different autonomous systems. Note. The bgp deterministic-med and bgp always-compare-med commands are not enabled by default. Also, the two commands are separate; enabling one does not automatically enable the other.
