NEW QUESTION: 1You have the Azure virtual networks shown in the following table.To which virtual networks can you establish a peering connection from VNet1?A. VNet2 onlyB. VNet3 and VNet4 onlyC. VNet2 and VNet3 onlyD. VNet2, VNet3, and VNet4Answer: BExplanation:

<https://docs.microsoft.com/en-us/azure/virtual-network/tutorial-connect-virtual-networks-portals>
You can connect virtual networks to each other with virtual network peering. These virtual networks can be in the same region or different regions (also known as Global VNet peering). Once virtual networks are peered, resources in both virtual networks are able to communicate with each other, with the same latency and bandwidth as if the resources were in the same virtual network.Global VNet Peering is now generally available in all Azure public regions, excluding the China, Germany, and Azure Government regions.The address space is the most critical configuration for a VNet in Azure. This is the IP range for the entire network that will be divided into subnets. The address space can almost be any IP range that you wish (public or private). You can add multiple address spaces to a VNet. To ensure this VNet can be connected to other networks, the address space should never overlap with any other networks in your environment. If a VNet has an address space that overlaps with another Azure VNet or on-premises network, the networks cannot be connected, as the routing of traffic will not work properly.

NEW QUESTION: 2 According to OWASP guidelines, what is the recommended method to prevent cross-site request forgery? A. Mark all cookies as HTTP only. B. Require strong passwords. C. Always use the "secure" attribute for cookies. D. Allow only POST requests. E. Use per-session challenge tokens in links within your web application. Answer: E
Explanation: Cross-Site Request Forgery (CSRF) is a type of attack that occurs when a malicious Web site, email, blog, instant message, or program causes a user's Web browser to perform an unwanted action on a trusted site for which the user is currently authenticated. The impact of a successful cross-site request forgery attack is limited to the capabilities exposed by the vulnerable application. For prevention, remember that all cookies, even the secret ones, will be submitted with every request. All authentication tokens will be submitted regardless of whether or not the end-user was tricked into submitting the request. Furthermore, session identifiers are simply used by the application container to associate the request with a specific session object.

NEW QUESTION: 3 You have 100 Windows computers that are managed by using Microsoft Intune. You need to ensure that when a new critical update is released, the update is approved automatically and deployed to the computers within 24 hours of approval. What should you do from the Microsoft Intune administration portal? A. From the Updates node, select Critical Updates, and then modify the Approval settings. B. From the Policy node, click Configuration Policies, and then create a new Windows policy. C. From the Policy node, click Compliance Policies, and then create a new compliance policy. D. From the Admin node, click Enrollment Rules, and then modify the device enrollment rules. E. From the Admin node, click Updates, and then create a new automatic approval rule. Answer: E
Explanation: Automatic approval rules - These rules automatically approve specified types of update and reduce your administrative overhead. For example, you might want to automatically approve all critical software updates. References: <https://docs.microsoft.com/en-us/intune-classic/deploy-use/keep-windows-pcs-up-to-date-with-software-updates-in-microsoft-intune>
