NEW QUESTION: 3 How is a data modeling language used?
A. To model the flows of unstructured data within the infrastructure.
B. To represent finite and well-defined network elements that cannot be changed.
C. To enable data to be easily structured, grouped validated, and replicated
D. To provide human readability to scripting languages
Answer: C
Explanation: Customer needs are fast evolving. Typically, a network center is a heterogenous mix of various devices at multiple layers of the network. Bulk and automatic configurations need to be accomplished. CLI scraping is not flexible and optimal. Re-writing scripts many times, even for small configuration changes is cumbersome. Bulk configuration changes through CLIs are error-prone and may cause system issues. The solution lies in using data models—a programmatic and standards-based way of writing configurations to any network device, replacing the process of manual configuration. Data models are written in a standard, industry-defined language. Although configurations using CLIs are easier (more human-friendly), automating the configuration using data models results in scalability.
