NEW QUESTION: 1Which two statements about deploying a mesh network by MAPs and RAPs are true on AireOS 8.0?(Choose two.)A. A MAP/RAP must be authorized by either PSK or EAP before joining a controller in bridge modeB. The three main types of mesh type under the neighbor information are neighbor, parent, and child. For types default neighbor, default parent, and default child, default is used when the neighbor BGN is not known or different from the current AP BGN if the strict matching BGN feature is disabled.C. VLAN tags are always forwarded across Mesh links.D. RADIUS and Local authentications are supported with both PSK and EAP. VLAN tags are always forwarded across Mesh links.E. The backhaul client access feature cannot be enabled on a RAP that is, a RAP does not allow clients on its 302.11a radio.

Answer: B,DExplanation:shows a simple mesh network deployment made up of mesh APs, WLCs, and a WCS. In this example deployment,there are three mesh APs connected to the wired network. These APs are designated as roof-top APs (RAPs); all other APs in the mesh network are known simply as mesh APs (MAPs). All mesh APs, both MAP and RAP, can provide WLAN client access, however in most cases because of the RAPs location it is not well suited for providing client access. In the following example the RAPs are located on the roof of each of the buildings and are connected to the network at each location. Some of the buildings have WLCs located at them to terminate LWAPP sessions from the mesh APs, but it is not necessary for every building to have a WLC. LWAPP sessions can be back hauled across the WAN if needed to other locations where a WLC resides.Note PSK may be used in place of EAP if configured on the WLC.Cisco Wireless LAN Controller Configuration Guide, Release 5.2 - Chapter 8 - Controlling Mesh Access Points[Cisco 4400 Series Wireless LAN Controllers] Cisco -
