NEW QUESTION: 1When attempting to connect to a vCenter Server, an administrator observes the following at the top of the vSphere Web Client:Could not connect to one or more vCenter Server Systems:https://vCenter.corp.com:443/sdk What three reasons could be preventing the vSphere Web Client from communicating with this vCenter Server? (Choose three.)A. The DNS entry for the vCenter Server is incorrect.B. The vCenter Server machine is not responding via the network.C. The SSL certificates do not match the FQDN address for the server.D. The Platform Services Controller is external to this vCenter Server.E. An incorrect entry for this vCenter Server exists in the Single Sign-On service.Answer: B,C,EExplanation:

Explanation/Reference:Explanation: This issue occurs in these situations:During the re-installation of vCenter Server, it is possible to have the same vCenter Server registered more than once to Single Sign-On (SSO).With a previous install of vCenter Server, SSL certificates are not overwritten or removed properly during an upgrade or re-installation.Note: If there are previous issues with the certificates, they may not be exposed until the installation and use of the 5.1 Web Client.Before proceeding with the steps in the Resolution section, ensure that you are not experiencing the issue identified in vSphere Web Client 5.1 reports this SSL warning after an installation or upgrade: Failed to verify the SSL certificate for one or more vCenter Server Systems (2036505).Reference:

NEW QUESTION: 2Given the below resource configuration -resource "aws_instance" "web" { # ... count = 4 }What does the terraform resource address aws_instance.web refer to?A. It refers to the last web EC2 instance , as by default , if no index is provided , the last / N-1 index is used.B. It refers to all 4 web instances , together , for further individual segregation , indexing is required , with a 0 based index.C. It refers to the first web EC2 instance out of the 4 , as by default , if no index is provided , the first / 0th index is used.D. The above will result in a syntax error , as it is not syntactically correct . Resources defined using count , can only be referenced using indexes.Answer: BExplanation:A Resource Address is a string that references a specific resource in a larger infrastructure. An address is made up of two parts:[module path][resource spec]Module path:A module path addresses a module within the tree of modules. It takes the form:module.A.module.B.module.C...Multiple modules in a path indicate nesting. If a module path is specified without a resource spec, the address applies to every resource within the module. If the module path is omitted, this addresses the root module.Given a Terraform config that includes:resource "aws_instance" "web" {# ...count = 4}An address like this:

aws_instance.web[3]Refers to only the last instance in the config, and an address like this: aws_instance.webRefers to all four "web" instances.
